JFK Challenges De Gaulle

Swedish Colonel Arrested As Spy

AF Officer, 57, Admits Selling Info To Kremlin

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Swedish air force Col. Stig Erik Wennerstrom, holder of the U.S. Legion of Merit, was arrested Tuesday as a Soviet spy of 15 years — five of them spent as Swedish air attache in Washington.

Police said the colonel, 57, admitted selling both Swedish military secrets, and those of other countries, to the Kremlin. The police announcement did not identify the other countries.

He was serving as special adviser on disarmament to the Swedish Foreign Ministry when police picked him up on espionage charges.

Foreign Minister Torsten Nilsson reacted angrily to what he called the worst spy scandal in the history of this traditionally neutral country. He ordered Wennerstrom's two alleged Soviet contacts — one a major general — out of the country and protested sharply to the Soviet Embassy about violating both Swedish and international law.

Special Communique Issued

The government underlined the seriousness with which it viewed the affair by issuing a special communique which said it would watch developments carefully and take the necessary measures as soon as more details are uncovered.

Prime Minister Tage Erlander came back from vacation, but an aide said the return had been scheduled previously and was not directly connected with the spy case.

Wennerstrom was last in the headlines in June 1957 when his daughter, Christine, then 16, ran away in Washington with Senate page boy Huw Williams.

The two were found in Pennsylvania after an 18-day joy ride through the Eastern United States and Canada using a souped-up convertible. Her parents rushed the girl home to Sweden.

Williams Sent To Prison

Williams, son of a widowed clerk in the Senate mail room, was later convicted of being an accessory to an armed robbery and sentenced to six years in a federal youth prison.

Wennerstrom, a police statement said, confessed he photographed secret documents with a special miniature camera and personally handed over the rolls of film to his Russian contacts. They said he apparently operated as a lone wolf.

Many aspects of the case are still under investigation, police said, and further details cannot be revealed.

The Russians ordered to leave Sweden immediately were Maj. Gen. Vitaly Nikolsky, military attache, and Georgy Baranovsky, first secretary at the Soviet Embassy.

U.S. Planning Military Cut For Economy

Manpower Slash Of 60,000 Among Moves Discussed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America is preparing to reduce its overseas military deployments and cut the size of its Army, Navy and Air Force, probably over a period of two years.

A military manpower slash of about 60,000 — perhaps more — is one of several drastic moves now in prospect as the Kennedy administration seeks to reverse the upward spiral of defense spending and achieve large economies.

Other Moves Considered

Other measures now being discussed in the capital include withdrawal of one of the Army's two divisions in South Korea and larger cuts in support forces in Europe; reduction of Navy aircraft carrier forces, and swifter junking of the Air Force's aging B47 bomber fleet.

There is talk, too, of a huge reduction in production of fissionable material for nuclear weapons in the 14 reactors used by the Atomic Energy Commission for that purpose—a step that might save $1 billion a year if carried out. This could be done with no damage to combat strength in view of the gigantic quantities now available, according to one view.

Sylvester Comments

Asked about these reported prospects, Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said, "There are no plans to withdraw from our commitments" around the world. He said removing a division from South Korea was "not under consideration."

Sylvester said any large economies achieved by the Pentagon would result from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's "efficiency improvement program and have nothing to do with force reduction in the United States or abroad."

Sylvester said the Pentagon had "no plan to withdraw forces other than B47s which are being replaced by missiles."

Germans Told U.S. Will Risk All In Defense

President Urges Great New Effort For NATO Unity

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—President Kennedy called Tuesday for renewed effort to expand and preserve the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and pledged the risk of American cities to nuclear holocaust in the defense of Europe.

In a major policy speech in St. Paul's church in this Main River city, the President flung a direct challenge to the policies of French President Charles de Gaulle.

He urged a massive new effort to preserve and expand Atlantic unity and warned that doubt and indecision could tumble the Atlantic Alliance to ruin. De Gaulle long has put NATO second to the interests of France.

It was another day of high personal triumph in Germany for the President as a crowd estimated by a German official at nearly a million turned out to see him on his drive to Frankfurt after a visit to a military base at Hanau.

Mingles With Crowd

In historic old Romerplatz before the City Hall a crowd of 14,000 went wild at his appearance. Women fainted, police worked stubbornly to keep lines firm, and the old square was a sea of waving hands, handkerchiefs and flags. Red Cross workers trundled out girls and women overcome in the crush.

As he finished a brief address from a rostrum Kennedy was for a few minutes drowned in a sea of Germans who sought to touch him or shake his hand.

His bodyguards were taken off guard as he strode from them to mingle with shouting, cheering Germans.

He delivered the main speech of his tour in the historic church, where he called on the NATO Allies to fulfill a great new mission leading the world to peace and freedom.

"The United States will risk its cities to defend yours because we need your freedom to protect ours," he declared.

De Gaulle View Challenged

He did not mention De Gaulle by name anywhere in his speech or in remarks elsewhere, but his meaning was plain to all who heard his words beamed all over Western Europe by radio networks.

"Those who would doubt our pledge or deny this indivisibility—those who would separate Europe from America or split one ally from another—would only give aid and comfort to the men who make themselves our adversaries and welcome any new Western disarray."

This amounted to a direct clash with De Gaulle, who has expressed doubt that the United States would risk nuclear destruction for the sake of European security.

There was no immediate response from Paris, where De Gaulle attended a meeting of his Cabinet.

Kennedy laid down his concept of the goals of the West: peace and freedom for all men, for all time, in a world of abundance and justice. He made plain how

Nebraska Flood Isolates Towns; Many Homeless

ASHLAND, Neb. (UPI) — Cloudburst powered floodwaters smashed dikes rolled almost at will through the Eastern Nebraska farm country Tuesday.

Towns were isolated, hundreds of families were made homeless and officials said property damage would run into the millions. At least three persons were dead in the floodwaters.

A prairie cloudburst poured down up to 14 inches of rain in the area in 12 hours Monday.

Skies were sunny through most of Tuesday, but late in the day a new line of thunderstorms bore down on the flood-stricken area.

The flood victims were identified as Mrs. Eleanor Divis, Jane Kolar, 13, and Walter Lovejoy, 64. All drowned in the Valparaiso, Neb., area Monday.

Mrs. Divis was swept away and the girl was ripped by the fury of the water from the arms of Mrs. Divis' husband. Lovejoy's body was found after his car was pulled from the water.

As the water swept past Ashland late Tuesday, residents of Beatrice were alerted for a flood crest of 26 feet, or nine feet over flood stage.

U. S. Weather Bureau officials said the area could expect a second crest Thursday and Friday.

Camp Counsellor Job Not For Him

NEW YORK (UPI) — Criminal Courts Judge Louis Wallache could not believe his ears and virtually exploded with indignation.

It happened Tuesday when a legal aid attorney asked that Harry Ellington, 29, a convicted pickpocket and narcotics addict, be given a suspended sentence on charges of petty larceny and unlawful entry so he could take a job as counsellor in a summer camp.

"We've got to keep him out of summer camp," the judge roared. "An addict and pickpocket as a summer camp counsellor? Not while I'm on the bench! One year in the pen."

Chestertown Negro Meeting Called Off

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP)—A mass meeting scheduled here Tuesday night at which Cambridge Negro leaders were to speak, was called off late Tuesday.

The Rev. F. G. Jones, president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he felt the appearance of integrationist leaders from Cambridge might "create hard feelings and lead to disruption of fruitful negotiations now underway."

Scores Perish As Slides Bury Korea Villages

PUSAN, South Korea (AP) — Rain-soaked earth slid down over four villages Monday night and Tuesday burying 116 persons in the mud and slime.

Rescue squads with hand shovels dug in search of survivors, but so far none has been found.

The latest slide was on Koje Island, 25 miles west of Pusan. Villagers who had fled torrential rains during the night returned early Tuesday and were cooking breakfast when the neighboring hill tumbled down on them.

There were 94 victims, police said, and bodies of 59 have been recovered.

Another 22 perished in three smaller slides Monday night in Pusan and nearby Kimhai County.

The landslides followed five inches of rain which drenched the area in a few hours.

TORONTO (AP)—Singer Rosemary Clooney was taken to a hospital Monday night with a case of suspected food poisoning.

She had to cancel a television performance on the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. Her condition was described as good.

Senate Probers Demand Vice Cleanup In AGVA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called for a house cleaning Tuesday in the American Guild of Variety Artists, a union of night club entertainers.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, which delved into the world of strip-teasers, exotic dancers and B-girls, charged that the union is run by a self-perpetuating clique which allegedly has surrendered its members to exploitation by racketeers.

In a report to the Senate, the subcommittee said the union's officials have shown no sign of trying to correct conditions exposed in hearings a year ago.

There was testimony then that girl entertainers were forced into prostitution, and that officials of the union closed their eyes to violations of contract clauses designed to protect members.

"The testimony establishes that AGVA's representatives well knew the character of the dives to which these girls were destined and the nature of the services to be performed by them," the report said.

The subcommittee charged that AGVA has been operating as a dues collecting agency, the benefits going mainly to its officials and top-rank employes in the form of "magnificent" salaries and expense accounts, the rank-and-file dancer members getting little or no benefit from their dues.

It cited testimony that there was no effort to deny union cards to "exotic dancers" of no talent, hired mainly for vice purposes and to hustle drinks.

10 Would-Be Negro Voters Under Arrest

GREENWOOD, Miss. (UPI) — About 60 Negroes turned up at the county courthouse to register as voters Tuesday and 10 were arrested for refusing to disperse when the office closed for the lunch hour.

It marked the second consecutive day large numbers of Negroes have appeared at the courthouse. Monday police broke up a group of about 150 that gathered.

A voter registration drive has been underway in Greenwood since spring. Negro comedian Dick Gregory led one of the early voter registration marches.

Greenwood is about 80 miles north of Jackson, where Byron De La Beckwith — the accused slayer of integration leader Medgar Evers — was given a preliminary hearing Tuesday afternoon.

Beckwith pleaded innocent to the murder charges filed against him.

In Canton, Miss., just 25 miles north of Jackson, four FBI agents showed up Tuesday to assist Canton authorities with an investigation involving five Negroes who were wounded Monday night by a shotgun blast.

The Negroes were attacked near a hall where a voter registration rally was in progress. Authorities said they did not believe the events were related.

Bernice McGruder, 23, one of those wounded, said she and her companions were walking down a street when she heard a shot and turned to see "a white man standing in the door of a filling station with a shotgun in his hand." She said the man was wearing khaki trousers and a striped shirt."

Police said they had questioned several persons who worked at the station, but so far had turned up nothing.

China Denounces U.S. On War Anniversary

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China observed the 13th anniversary of the Korean War Tuesday with a blistering attack on the United States, and indirect criticism of the Soviet Union for seeking peace with the West.

The anniversary was marked in a rally at Peking, which a New China news agency broadcast monitored here said started a one-month Chinese campaign of support for North Korea's demand for reunification of Korea.

The bitter attack against the United States was made by Liao Cheng-chih, vice chairman of China's Peace Committee, in a speech delivered at the rally.

Charging the United States with being the "most vicious common enemy of the peoples of the world," and warning against any compromise with the West, Liao said the peoples of the world "should firmly oppose any attitude of trusting the fate of mankind to co-operation or compromise with U.S. imperialism."

Three U.S. Airmen Cleared In Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. enlisted airmen rushed home from England for investigation of rumors linking them to party girl Christine Keeler were cleared Tuesday of any involvement in Britain's sex-and-security scandal.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense, told newsmen the inquiry "has not given any indication whatsoever of any security violation."

"No military information was even solicited from these men nor was any furnished by them," he said.

"None of these men was involved directly or indirectly in any way in the Keeler, Ward, Profumo case or had any knowledge concerning it."

Sylvester said the three are en route back to duty at their 3rd Air Force Base in South Ruislip near London, which they left last Friday. He refused to identify them because he said "it would be unfair to them."

However, British newspaper reports named two of them as Charles Lee Wright of Mount Vernon, Ill., and Sgt. George Hopkins of Bellaire, Ohio. The Pentagon has conceded that men with such names are assigned to the 3rd Air Force in South Ruislip but refused to say they are the men questioned.

Sylvester declined to comment when asked about reports that the men questioned are Negroes.

Miss Keeler is the central figure in a scandal which has brought the resignation of British War Minister John Profumo and the arrest on morals charges of Stephen Ward, a fashionable London osteopath. Security questions were raised because at the same time she was having an affair with Profumo her affections were being shared by Capt. Eugene Ivanov, then Soviet naval attache in London.

Trieste Sub Hunt Dive Postponed

ABOARD THE USS FORT SNELLING AT SEA (UPI) — The Navy postponed Tuesday's scheduled second dive by the bathyscaphe Trieste in search of the submarine Thresher because a crewman twisted his ankle and the sonar unit on the Trieste was not working properly.

But the difficulties were minor and the Navy said the Trieste would dive to the floor of the North Atlantic some 8,400 feet below the surface at 9 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

Beckwith Bound To Grand Jury

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Byron De La Beckwith, a 42-year-old ex-marine, was bound over to a grand jury without bond on murder charges Tuesday in the sniper slaying of integration leader Medgar Evers.

"There is no doubt that the evidence presented in this preliminary hearing should be presented to the grand jury," Municipal Court Judge James L. Spencer commented following a two-hour hearing.

Spencer pointed out the only question he was being called upon to decide was whether there was sufficient evidence against Beckwith to warrant consideration of murder charges by the grand jury.

Teamster President Pleads Innocent

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa Tuesday pleaded innocent to charges of fraudulently manipulating $20 million in loans from the union pension fund, claiming the indictment was "just another propaganda move" by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

"The plea of not guilty will be substantiated by evidence and it will be proven that the pension fund which is involved is not in any way in danger," Hoffa said after the brief arraignment.

Seven other defendants also pleaded innocent.

Khrush Parade In East Berlin Set For Friday

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany announced plans Tuesday to parade Soviet Premier Khrushchev in East Berlin Friday, two days after President Kennedy visits West Berlin.

West Berlin authorities meanwhile predicted a turnout of a million West Berliners when Kennedy arrives Wednesday for his first look at the Red Wall.

The East Berliners got their latest word in an announcement from the National Front, a propaganda organization, calling on them to decorate houses, streets, squares and factories with Red flags for Khrushchev.

Moscow Radio Monday night had made a surprise announcement that Khrushchev would come to East Germany to help celebrate the birthday of party boss Walter Ulbricht, who will be 70 on Sunday.

There was general agreement here that Khrushchev was making the trip to counterbalance the effects of Kennedy's visit.

Pope Paul Sets Stage For Talk With Kennedy

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI set the stage Monday for his historic meeting with President Kennedy, telling a group of Americans their country had given valuable assistance to other nations.

The new Roman Catholic spiritual ruler also appeared to be carefully briefing himself on world affairs in a round of talks with his cardinals.

"You have not forgotten the less fortunate people, and to them and to the new emerging nations you have given valuable assistance," Pope Paul told 375 pilgrims from Philadelphia at a special audience. He spoke in English.

In his first meeting with Americans as Pope, he seemed to have his eyes on the Kennedy visit next week. It will be the 65-year-old pontiff's first major engagement after his outdoor coronation on Sunday.

He asked the pilgrims to take back to "all the citizens of the United States these, our first greetings."

"We have visited your noble country and we have experienced personally your sincere and warm hospitality and generosity. The industry of your people and the rich blessings of natural resources have made yours a prosperous land," he said.

After speaking of U.S. generosity he invoked "rich, heavenly grace" on non-Catholic Americans.

"We are mindful, too, of our non-Catholic brothers, and upon them and the loved ones we invoke rich, heavenly grace," he added.

Underground A-Test Conducted In Nevada

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced another underground nuclear test was conducted Tuesday at its Nevada test site.

It was described as of low yield, meaning a blast equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

This was the 67th test announced at the site since September 1961.

Demos Pick Atlantic City, Back JFK's Rights Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Exuberant Democrats on Tuesday awarded Atlantic City, N.J., their 1964 nominating convention and shouted approval of a resolution endorsing President Kennedy's civil rights legislative program.

The Democratic National Committee fixed Aug. 24 as the opening date of a meeting at which Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson are expected to be renominated by acclamation.

The New Jersey resort city, a Republican stronghold which frequently votes Democratic in presidential elections, won out over Chicago in what was described by William S. Potter of Delaware as a close vote.

Atlantic City promised $625,000 in cash, free rental of its 25,000-seat convention hall and other benefits. The decision apparently went against Chicago because its new Lake Shore convention hall and some of its hotel rooms were not available at the time Kennedy wanted the convention held.

Republicans will hold their convention in San Francisco, beginning the week of July 13, giving them an early start in the campaign.

In a resolution praising Kennedy for bringing to the nation's affairs a vigor and creativity that had "long been missing," the National Committee approved what it called the administration's substantial progress in the achievement of civil rights for all Americans, "which is recognized by the President as the overriding moral issue of our day."

France Ignores Kennedy Attack

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and the French government discussed President Kennedy's swing through Germany but maintained an official public silence Tuesday on Kennedy's rebuttal of De Gaulle's policies.

One government source said French officials did not wish to engage in any public polemic with Kennedy—at least, not at this time—on the future of Europe and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

By coincidence, the Cabinet was meeting while advance copies of Kennedy's Frankfurt speech were becoming available. But there was no comment on it either from De Gaulle's office or from the Foreign Minister.

A Cabinet spokesman said Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville brought up the Kennedy visit, and told his colleagues how Kennedy was doing. He also reported on the mission of Kennedy's special adviser on security affairs, McGeorge Bundy, who is coming to Paris for a Thursday meeting with Couve de Murville.

The official line appeared to be that Kennedy was simply restating well-known American policy, and hence there was nothing really new in his speeches.

10 Would-Be Negro Voters Under Arrest

GREENWOOD, Miss. (UPI) — About 60 Negroes turned up at the county courthouse to register as voters Tuesday and 10 were arrested for refusing to disperse when the office closed for the lunch hour.

It marked the second consecutive day large numbers of Negroes have appeared at the courthouse. Monday police broke up a group of about 150 that gathered.

A voter registration drive has been underway in Greenwood since spring. Negro comedian Dick Gregory led one of the early voter registration marches.

Greenwood is about 80 miles north of Jackson, where Byron De La Beckwith — the accused slayer of integration leader Medgar Evers — was given a preliminary hearing Tuesday afternoon.

Beckwith pleaded innocent to the murder charges filed against him.

In Canton, Miss., just 25 miles north of Jackson, four FBI agents showed up Tuesday to assist Canton authorities with an investigation involving five Negroes who were wounded Monday night by a shotgun blast.

The Negroes were attacked near a hall where a voter registration rally was in progress. Autorities said they did not believe the events were related.

Bernice McGruder, 23, one of those wounded, said she and her companions were walking down a street when she heard a shot and turned to see "a white man standing in the door of a filling station with a shotgun in his hand." She said the man was wearing khaki trousers and a striped shirt."

Police said they had questioned several persons who worked at the station, but so far had turned up nothing.

China Denounces U.S. On War Anniversary

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China observed the 13th anniversary of the Korean War Tuesday with a blistering attack on the United States, and indirect criticism of the Soviet Union for seeking peace with the West.

The anniversary was marked in a rally at Peking, which a New China news agency broadcast monitored here said started a one-month Chinese campaign of support for North Korea's demand for reunification of Korea.

The bitter attack against the United States was made by Liao Cheng-chih, vice chairman of China's Peace Committee, in a speech delivered at the rally.

Charging the United States with being the "most vicious common enemy of the peoples of the world," and warning against any compromise with the West, Liao said the peoples of the world "should firmly oppose any attitude of trusting the fate of mankind to co-operation or compromise with U.S. imperialism."

Three U.S. Airmen Cleared In Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. enlisted airmen rushed home from England for investigation of rumors linking them to party girl Christine Keeler were cleared Tuesday of any involvement in Britain's sex-and-security scandal.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense, told newsmen the inquiry "has not given any indication whatsoever of any security violation."

"No military information was even solicited from these men nor was any furnished by them," he said.

"None of these men was involved directly or indirectly in any way in the Keeler, Ward, Profumo case or had any knowledge concerning it."

Sylvester said the three are en route back to duty at their 3rd Air Force Base in South Ruislip near London, which they left last Friday. He refused to identify them because he said "it would be unfair to them."

However, British newspaper reports named two of them as Charles Lee Wright of Mount Vernon, Ill., and Sgt. George Hopkins of Bellaire, Ohio. The Pentagon has conceded that men with such names are assigned to the 3rd Air Force in South Ruislip but refused to say they are the men questioned.

Sylvester declined to comment when asked about reports that the men questioned are Negroes.

Miss Keeler is the central figure in a scandal which has brought the resignation of British War Minister John Profumo and the arrest on morals charges of Stephen Ward, a fashionable London osteopath. Security questions were raised because at the same time she was having an affair with Profumo her affections were being shared by Capt. Eugene Ivanov, then Soviet naval attache in London.

Pope Paul Sets Stage For Talk With Kennedy

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI set the stage Monday for his historic meeting with President Kennedy, telling a group of Americans their country had given valuable assistance to other nations.

The new Roman Catholic spiritual ruler also appeared to be carefully briefing himself on world affairs in a round of talks with his cardinals.

"You have not forgotten the less fortunate people, and to them and to the new emerging nations you have given valuable assistance," Pope Paul told 375 pilgrims from Philadelphia at a special audience. He spoke in English.

In his first meeting with Americans as Pope, he seemed to have his eyes on the Kennedy visit next week. It will be the 65-year-old pontiff's first major engagement after his outdoor coronation on Sunday.

He asked the pilgrims to take back to "all the citizens of the United States these, our first greetings."

"We have visited your noble country and we have experienced personally your sincere and warm hospitality and generosity. The industry of your people and the rich blessings of natural resources have made yours a prosperous land," he said.

After speaking of U.S. generosity he invoked "rich, heavenly grace" on non-Catholic Americans.

"We are mindful, too, of our non-Catholic brothers, and upon them and the loved ones we invoke rich, heavenly grace," he added.

Trieste Sub Hunt Dive Postponed

ABOARD THE USS FORT SNELLING AT SEA (UPI) — The Navy postponed Tuesday's scheduled second dive by the bathyscaphe Trieste in search of the submarine Thresher because a crewman twisted his ankle and the sonar unit on the Trieste was not working properly.

But the difficulties were minor and the Navy said the Trieste would dive to the floor of the North Atlantic some 8,400 feet below the surface at 9 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

Beckwith Bound To Grand Jury

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Byron De La Beckwith, a 42-year-old ex-marine, was bound over to a grand jury without bond on murder charges Tuesday in the sniper slaying of integration leader Medgar Evers.

"There is no doubt that the evidence presented in this preliminary hearing should be presented to the grand jury," Municipal Court Judge James L. Spencer commented following a two-hour hearing.

Spencer pointed out the only question he was being called upon to decide was whether there was sufficient evidence against Beckwith to warrant consideration of murder charges by the grand jury.

Teamster President Pleads Innocent

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa Tuesday pleaded innocent to charges of fraudulently manipulating $20 million in loans from the union pension fund, claiming the indictment was "just another propaganda move" by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

"The plea of not guilty will be substantiated by evidence and it will be proven that the pension fund which is involved is not in any way in danger," Hoffa said after the brief arraignment.

Seven other defendants also pleaded innocent.

Khrush Parade In East Berlin Set For Friday

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany announced plans Tuesday to parade Soviet Premier Khrushchev in East Berlin Friday, two days after President Kennedy visits West Berlin.

West Berlin authorities meanwhile predicted a turnout of a million West Berliners when Kennedy arrives Wednesday for his first look at the Red Wall.

The East Berliners got their latest word in an announcement from the National Front, a propaganda organization, calling on them to decorate houses, streets, squares and factories with Red flags for Khrushchev.

Moscow Radio Monday night had made a surprise announcement that Khrushchev would come to East Germany to help celebrate the birthday of party boss Walter Ulbricht, who will be 70 on Sunday.

There was general agreement here that Khrushchev was making the trip to counterbalance the effects of Kennedy's visit.

Underground A-Test Conducted In Nevada

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced another underground nuclear test was conducted Tuesday at its Nevada test site.

It was described as of low yield, meaning a blast equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

This was the 67th test announced at the site since September 1961.

France Ignores Kennedy Attack

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and the French government discussed President Kennedy's swing through Germany but maintained an official public silence Tuesday on Kennedy's rebuttal of De Gaulle's policies.

One government source said French officials did not wish to engage in any public polemic with Kennedy—at least, not at this time—on the future of Europe and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

By coincidence, the Cabinet was meeting while advance copies of Kennedy's Frankfurt speech were becoming available. But there was no comment on it either from De Gaulle's office or from the Foreign Minister.

A Cabinet spokesman said Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville brought up the Kennedy visit, and told his colleagues how Kennedy was doing. He also reported on the mission of Kennedy's special adviser on security affairs, McGeorge Bundy, who is coming to Paris for a Thursday meeting with Couve de Murville.

The official line appeared to be that Kennedy was simply restating well-known American policy, and hence there was nothing really new in his speeches.

Chestertown Negro Meeting Called Off

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP)—A mass meeting scheduled here Tuesday night at which Cambridge Negro leaders were to speak, was called off late Tuesday.

The Rev. F. G. Jones, president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he felt the appearance of integrationist leaders from Cambridge might "create hard feelings and lead to disruption of fruitful negotiations now underway."

Senate Probers Demand Vice Cleanup In AGVA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called for a house cleaning Tuesday in the American Guild of Variety Artists, a union of night club entertainers.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, which delved into the world of strip-teasers, exotic dancers and B-girls, charged that the union is run by a self-perpetuating clique which allegedly has surrendered its members to exploitation by racketeers.

In a report to the Senate, the subcommittee said the union's officials have shown no sign of trying to correct conditions exposed in hearings a year ago.

There was testimony then that girl entertainers were forced into prostitution, and that officials of the union closed their eyes to violations of contract clauses designed to protect members.

"The testimony establishes that AGVA's representatives well knew the character of the dives to which these girls were destined and the nature of the services to be performed by them," the report said.

The subcommittee charged that AGVA has been operating as a dues collecting agency, the benefits going mainly to its officials and top-rank employes in the form of "magnificent" salaries and expense accounts, the rank-and-file dancer members getting little or no benefit from their dues.

It cited testimony that there was no effort to deny union cards to "exotic dancers" of no talent, hired mainly for vice purposes and to hustle drinks.

Demos Pick Atlantic City, Back JFK's Rights Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Exuberant Democrats on Tuesday awarded Atlantic City, N.J., their 1964 nominating convention and shouted approval of a resolution endorsing President Kennedy's civil rights legislative program.

The Democratic National Committee fixed Aug. 24 as the opening date of a meeting at which Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson are expected to be renominated by acclamation.

The New Jersey resort city, a Republican stronghold which frequently votes Democratic in presidential elections, won out over Chicago in what was described by William S. Potter of Delaware as a close vote.

Atlantic City promised $625,000 in cash, free rental of its 25,000-seat convention hall and other benefits. The decision apparently went against Chicago because its new Lake Shore convention hall and some of its hotel rooms were not available at the time Kennedy wanted the convention held.

Republicans will hold their convention in San Francisco, beginning the week of July 13, giving them an early start in the campaign.

In a resolution praising Kennedy for bringing to the nation's affairs a vigor and creativity that had "long been missing," the National Committee approved what it called the administration's substantial progress in the achievement of civil rights for all Americans, "which is recognized by the President as the overriding moral issue of our day."

U. S. Discloses Blowup Of Red Satellite In Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union launched last Oct. 24 some kind of a spacecraft that went into orbit in 24 separate pieces.

There is no indication whether it was manned.

The Reds said nothing at the time about the launching, and still haven't reported it.

The United States, disclosing this, said the U.S. tracking network observed the advent of the new satellites or bits of satellites, and named each fragment.

The pieces started re-entering the atmosphere five days after the launching. The last fell from orbit Feb. 26.

The United States withheld disclosure of the Oct. 24 shot and a number of other unannounced Soviet space ventures until this week. Then they listed them in a satellite situation report from the Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md.

Goddard, operated by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said its information came from the North American Air Defense Command, which operates a satellite surveillance section.

There was no indication whether the Soviet craft blew up in space or broke apart by design.

Other Soviet shots listed in the summary, not yet announced by the Russians, include:

1962, launched last Sept. 12, seven sections of the satellite dropped out of orbit separately within five days.

1962, launched last Nov. 4, five fragments disappeared in November, December and January.

1963, launched last Jan. 4, the largest section dropped from orbit next day but the other two lasted a week.

Spacecraft launched Aug. 25, Sept. 1 and Nov. 1, 1962, and April 2, 1963. The eight pieces of the first craft dropped from orbit in August and September, the four parts of the second disappeared by Oct. 1, and the two sections of the third dropped from orbit on the second and third day of flight. The object launched April 2 is still in orbt, although a part of it decayed April 3.

Baltimore Girl Elected Mayor Of Girls State

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Delores Bobian of Baltimore was elected mayor of Girls State Tuesday as her Nationalist Party took two of the top three offices in municipal elections.

Paula Mullinix of Westminster, a Federalist Party candidate, was chosen president of the city council. Nancy Goldberg of Takoma Park, a Nationalist candidate, was elected city comptroller.

The 233 girls attending the annual project in government sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary are establishing city, county and state governments. Primaries were held Tuesday night for county offices which will be filled Wednesday.

At their working sessions Tuesday, the girls heard talks by State Sen. Paul A. Dorf, D-Balto 5th, and Del. Julian L. Lapides, D-Balto 2nd. State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein was dinner speaker Tuesday night.

Gov. Tawes Hints Guard May Leave Cambridge

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes spurred Negroes and whites in Cambridge Tuesday to settle their long standing differences by pointedly declaring the National Guard cannot be stationed there indefinitely.

The governor's broad hint that the guardsmen may be immobilized came after he held a two-hour conference with commanding officers of the soldiers, state police, the town's mayor and the state's chief legal officer.

Gov. Tawes, who ordered the guardsmen to Cambridge 11 days ago, reiterated what he said is a strong feeling that a "peaceful, satisfactory solution had to be found and that a grave responsibility rested on local leaders to achieve such a result."

"It should be obvious to all that the Maryland National Guard cannot remain indefinitely in Cambridge," the governor stated.

Pressed for elaboration, Edmund C. Mester, the governor's administrative aide and personal go-between in abortive efforts to negotiate an agreement last week, said "all aspects of the guard problem were discussed, but no decision was reached as to how long they would stay there."

Mester added that the governor's office and National Guard both have been receiving written complaints about hardship being suffered by civilians forced to give up their jobs to serve in Cambridge. A buck private is paid less than $3 a day while on active duty, such as in Cambridge.

Gov. Tawes said he called the conference to obtain a first hand report of the situation in the town which has been rocked by racial discontent for weeks.

Arson Is Suspected In Baltimore Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — A chief theorized Tuesday that a fire in a six-story brick building being demolished was set deliberately.

The fire was discovered at midmorning and more than 40 pieces of equipment were on the scene an hour as firemen extinguished the flames.

The building was one of several being torn down to make room for expansion of the University of Maryland's graduate schools in the vicinity of West Baltimore Street.

The building had been vacated four years ago by a clothing manufacturer.

Battalion Chief John S. Knoerlein termed the fire arson because no one was inside the building at the time, all utilities had been removed and there seemed no way for the flames to start.

Two 'Live' Shells From Civil War Found In Library

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Two Civil War shells lay quietly among the books for years, fused and ready to be blown.

Civil War buff Manuel Sempeles discovered them, one 5-inch Navy shell in the basement of the city's Handley Library and a smaller one upstairs in a storage room.

Librarian David Roland remembered how the shells had been tossed around recently during cleaning and a changeover.

Two Ft. Belvoir Army specialists came Tuesday, defused the shells and carted them off. One of the demolition men said one shell contained black powder which becomes more sensitive with age.

Roland made a quick check of the library — no more shells; only books.

Prospects Improve For Good Grain Crop

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Wet, cool weather has retarded the ripening of small grains in Maryland and Delaware, but has improved prospects of a good harvest, the crop reporting service said Tuesday.

Although the development of vegetable and fruit crops was generally good last week, agricultural agents reported the weather would delay the wheat harvest about 10 days beyond the usual July 1 starting date.

The service said pasture feed supplies still were slightly below in north central Maryland and about average in Western Maryland.

Senate Votes Tighter Rein On Job Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate agreed Tuesday to tighten restrictions on the use of federal job retraining funds under the Area Redevelopment Act.

The action, requested by Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., stems from the movement of the Mack Truck Plant from Plainfield, N.J., to Hagerstown, Md., where persons trained under an ARA program obtained jobs at the relocated plant.

Case said he had also received complaints that work once done by the Radio Corp. of America at Camden, N.J., is now being done at RCA's Cambridge, Ohio, plant using workers trained under the federal program.

Case said his amendment would help solve both these problems by denying the use of federal job retraining funds to help a relocated industry and bar federal help to expand an industry at the expense of that firm's employes in another area.

He said it is untenable for former Mack employes at Plainfield or RCA employes at Camden to subsidize by their taxes the exodus of their employment opportunities.

Germans Told

he believes this could best be done.

"The first task of the Atlantic community is to assure the common defense," he said. "That defense was and still is indivisible."

While this was a response to De Gaulle it also served notice anew to the Soviet Union that the United States would retaliate swiftly against any attack on its allies.

Listening to Kennedy in St. Paul's church was a select audience of 900 German officials, legislators, dignitaries, business leaders and journalists.

He walked to the church from City Hall, where the crowds jammed into the square and adjoining streets to greet him and take up the chant "Ken-ne-dee, Ken-ne-dee."

Stormy applause broke from the crowd as he said:

"It is not in our interest to try to dominate the European councils of decision. If that were our objective, we would prefer to see Europe divided and weak, enabling the United States to deal with each fragment individually.

"Instead we look forward to a Europe united and strong—speaking with a common voice—acting with a common will, a world power capable of meeting world problems as a full and equal partner."

Restraining Order Issued In Teacher Print Dispute

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A temporary injunction preventing the Montgomery County Board of Education from having teachers' fingerprints processed by county police was issued Tuesday.

Judge Thomas M. Anderson of Montgomery County Circuit Court signed an order restraining the board from putting its controversial fingerprints order into effect for at least 10 days.

Dr. Elizabeth C. Wilson, director of the school system's office of curriculum development; Miss Susan E. Osman, an English teacher at Northwood High School, and Robert H. Willoughby, a geography teacher at Kensington Junior High School, brought the legal action as plaintiffs against the seven-member school board and Superintendent of Schools C. Taylor Whittier.

The petition said "immediate, substantial and irreparable injury" would result to the plaintiffs from implementation of the order to transfer fingerprint records from the school personnel department to the police department.

The school board's controversial 4-3 vote Monday night was protested by the Montgomery County Education Association, with approximately 3,700 members, but the attorney general of Maryland ruled that legal action should be filed by individual teachers and not by the teachers' group.

FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HARDTOP

IF YOU KNEW WHAT THIS "CAR KILLER" KNOWS...YOU'D BE DRIVING A SOLID, SILENT SUPER TORQUE FORD

This steel-edged pothole is probably the world's toughest test of a car's suspension. We drive into this car killer at 30 mph, locking our brakes as we go so the wheels can't roll through the hole as they normally would. The car slams against the far edge of the hole with such impact that it literally bounds out.

If you added up the cumulative effect of all the jars and jolts your car's suspension system experiences in years of normal driving, it wouldn't match the impact of one trip through the hole. Yet—a Ford must run this test three times to prove its strength.

How can a Ford take it? Because Ford's front suspension has extra beef in spindles, springs, suspension arms—in fact, it's about 20 pounds heavier than the front suspension of our principal competitor's car.

We don't expect you to abuse your car the way we do our test cars. But, however you drive, you'll welcome the extra strength of a total performance Ford. Ford strength is tested in a thousand ways in Ford's laboratories and proving grounds—and in open competition in the world's toughest rallies and stock car events.

Look at Ford's astounding record in open competition this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500's, the World 600 at Charlotte, N.C., and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery: if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance...total performance.

Restraining Order Issued In Teacher Print Dispute

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A temporary injunction preventing the Montgomery County Board of Education from having teachers' fingerprints processed by county police was issued Tuesday.

Judge Thomas M. Anderson of Montgomery County Circuit Court signed an order restraining the board from putting its controversial fingerprints order into effect for at least 10 days.

Dr. Elizabeth C. Wilson, director of the school system's office of curriculum development; Miss Susan E. Osman, an English teacher at Northwood High School, and Robert H. The school board's controversial 4-3 vote Monday night was protested by the Montgomery County Education Association, with approximately 3,700 members, but the attorney general of Maryland ruled that legal action should be filed by individual teachers and not by the teachers' group.

Bothered by "Roll Togetherness"?

It's a common complaint. Take an ordinary mattress. Put a 190 lb. man on one side and a 130 lb. woman on the other. What happens? You guessed it. The mattress sags towards the heavier weight. He sleeps in a hollow. She sleeps on a slope. Uncomfortable? You bet.

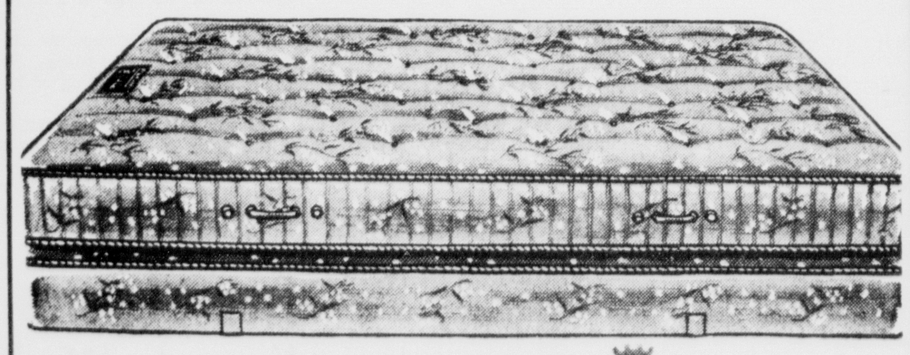

That's one sleep problem we've solved many times because we know there's one mattress—the Beautyrest—that gives single bed comfort in a double bed.

Maybe you have another sleep problem. Is your mattress too hard? Too soft? Is it too small for you? Do you like a tufted mattress or one with a quilted top Whatever your problem, chances are there's a Beautyrest model that is just the answer. We have it and we just love to help people solve their sleep problems.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HARDTOP

IF YOU KNEW WHAT THIS "CAR KILLER" KNOWS...YOU'D BE DRIVING A SOLID, SILENT SUPER TORQUE FORD

This steel-edged pothole is probably the world's toughest test of a car's suspension. We drive into this car killer at 30 mph, locking our brakes as we go so the wheels can't roll through the hole as they normally would. The car slams against the far edge of the hole with such impact that it literally bounds out.

If you added up the cumulative effect of all the jars and jolts your car's suspension system experiences in years of normal driving, it wouldn't match the impact of one trip through the hole. Yet—a Ford must run this test three times to prove its strength.

How can a Ford take it? Because Ford's front suspension has extra beef in spindles, springs, suspension arms—in fact, it's about 20 pounds heavier than the front suspension of our principal competitor's car.

We don't expect you to abuse your car the way we do our test cars. But, however you drive, you'll welcome the extra strength of a total performance Ford. Ford strength is tested in a thousand ways in Ford's laboratories and proving grounds—and in open competition in the world's toughest rallies and stock car events.

Look at Ford's astounding record in open competition this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500's, the World 600 at Charlotte, N.C., and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery: if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance...total performance.

B&O Will Offer Rate Cut For Groups

To encourage increased Pullman travel by organized groups and members of clubs and other organizations, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has announced that it will reduce round-trip, first-class fares by 27%, for persons traveling in parties of 18 or more.

Under the new plan, effective July 1, passengers in such groups may procure a round-trip ticket for one and a fourth the cost of a one-way fare. Pullman space charges are extra.

The B & O's new reduced rates are expected to have special appeal for convention-goers and those attending meetings and sports events in other cities.

For example, the group-rate reductions will cut regular first-class charges, per person, between Baltimore or Washington and Chicago by $26.41, and between Baltimore or Washington and St. Louis by $30.67. Comparable savings can be realized between all other points on the B & O system.

Activities Under Way At Camp Tioga

Approximately 100 persons, campers and staff, are participating in the first two-week period of Camp Tioga, Shawnee Girl Scout camp near Flintstone.

Mrs. Ruby Adams, camp director, said that the campers include 11 councilors-in-training, girls between the ages of 16 and 18 years, who are being instructed in supervision and camp activities.

The camping theme this year is "Indian," with each of the units named after a tribe. Patrols are designated as clans for the study of nature and Indian crafts.

Members of Mrs. Adams' staff include Ethel Pedrick, Clark Green, Pa.; Alleen Frost, Frostburg; Rose DelBusso and Cheryl Mull, Cumberland; Ann Stone, LaVale; Virginia Brummage, Eckhart; Janice Huff, Frostburg, and Diane Snelson, Midland.

Kay Beeman, Frostburg, is director of waterfront activities, assisted by Brenda Cook, Luke.

The CIT group is under direction of Mrs. Lucille Chapman, St. Louis, with Virginia Wiebrecht, assistant.

An innovation at Camp Tioga this season is a group of 18 Girl Scouts from the Everett, Pa., area who are conducting a "pilot run" on pioneer camping, with Mrs. Adams explaining that they are operating independently of the organized campers.

In charge of the Everett group are Patricia Rhea and Mildred Foor. This group is participating in Camp Tioga's campfire sessions and also utilizing the waterfront facilities.

In line with the theme, the Girl Scouts are using open fireplaces in preparing their noon meals, but use the camp's dining hall for breakfast and dinner.

Mrs. Adams said Visitors Day will be observed Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m.

The second group of campers will arrive at Camp Tioga on Monday, July 8, and the third on Monday, July 22. Mrs. Adams said the only openings available are during the last two-week session.

County Vehicle Bids Opened

Four bids were received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners for a station wagon-ambulance for use by Sylvan Retreat personnel.

The station wagon would be used primarily in transporting persons to the state mental institutions.

Apparent low bidder was Gratton Ford Company, which offered to provide the vehicle for $3,034.27. Other bids were Kowell Motor Sales, Frostburg, $3,652.95; Spoerl's, $3,725 and Frostburg Auto Company, $3,548.

The bids will be tabulated and checked with bid specifications before the board acts in the matter.

Fishing Area Proposed At Blue Spring

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday instructed Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, to write Edwin M. Dale, Hagerstown, superintendent of the C&O Canal, for a meeting on a proposed fishing area.

Commissioner Russell Carder brought up the matter last week when he suggested that the waters of Blue Spring, which is located at the edge of the Potomac River in North Branch, be piped or pumped into the old C&O Canal bed for a fishing hole.

Dale will be asked to have an engineer attached to the National Park Service also attend the meeting here with Albert S. Paye, county engineer, and Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke to discuss the feasibility of the plan.

The water of the spring are filled with suckers, carp and other fish in the spring as they are attracted by the coolness and limestone water emerging from the bank along the river.

Turnpike Accident Damage Heavy

Pennsylvania State Police report heavy damage from a two-vehicle accident early today on the Turnpike, 12 miles east of the Breezewood Interchange.

Harry E. Yocum, 44, of Akron, reportedly was driving a tractor-trailer east on the highway when he sighted another eastbound vehicle after rounding a slight right curve.

Yocum was unable to avoid striking the truck, operated by Melvin C. Weyandt, 25, of RD 1, Claysburg, Pa. The Yocum rig caromed into guardrails after the slight collision.

Police estimated damage to the tractor-trailer at $8,000, and said the Weyandt truck suffered $50 damage.

Skelly Will Be Speaker At Convention

Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor, has been invited to speak at the meeting of the American Road Builders Association in September.

Skelly will speak on the topic "New Procedures In Snow and Ice Control" as they affect roadways.

The national group will meet September 15, 16, 17 and 18 at Gatlinburg, Tenn., and Skelly will speak on the final day of the session.

Several years ago a program for snow removal and ice control on county roads was set up by Skelly for the County Roads Department.

Hot Weather Freshness — Answers To Questions

Let's cope with mail bag questions about deodorants today. So many letters ask the same kind of questions at this time of year that the majority of them can be given the same answers.

Very often asked is what the difference is between a deodorant and an antiperspirant, and which should be used. The two are easy to confuse because both are called deodorants—but their action differs. The product, labelled deodorant alone, prevents or neutralizes odor but does not lessen perspiration moisture. The product identified as an antiperspirant, or perspiration check, both deodorizes and keeps the skin dry. Only those who perspire very little should use the preparation that does no more than deodorize. Either should be used half an hour before an action that causes perspiring. Otherwise, perspiration may wash them away before they have time to become effective.

Safety is another concern to questioners, some of whom hesitate to use as much as they need. Yes, antiperspirants are safe to use on the small areas of skin where they're needed, and every day, too, as they should be. The concentrated moisture which is held back on some areas releases harmlessly on wider areas of skin elsewhere.

Those who complain that antiperspirants do not work efficiently for them should keep trying new ones. This year's products are more effective than ever, and it's always true that some work best for some skin chemistries and others, for others. Dress shields also should be depended on for additional protection for those who perspire excessively, and for almost anyone during the hottest weather, or when exercising in the heat.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This will sound terrible but I'm really a very nice guy. I want my fourth wife back. I've had one marriage since Peg and now I know for sure that number four is the girl for me.

I am 42, mature, and have been around enough to know the score. I am not stuck with any alimony raps because all my ex-wives remarried. All my kids have been adopted by their stepfathers so I have never been hooked for child support either.

The problem is that Peg's husband is a big shot and he might give me some trouble. He and Peg never had kids of their own and he is crazy about the boys. I haven't seen them in seven years but I hear the kids are very handsome—like me.

I'm sure Peg still loves me and that I could be a good father to the boys. I realize now I should have stuck with them. Do you think I have a chance?—BEN A ROUND

DEAR BEN: Chance for what? A fat lip? Your sudden attack of paternity gets me right here, Pal.

Your timing is cockeyed and I have only one recommendation: Get yourself good and lost and leave this family alone.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would just love to get my hands on that girl from Minneapolis who said all fellows who wear white socks are yokels.

Did it ever occur to her that some men MUST wear white socks—following doctors' orders? My husband is one of those unfortunate guys who is allergic to the dye in men's socks. His feet used to break out in a terrible rash and the itching drove him crazy. It took quite a long time before he was able to track down the cause of his trouble. Since he has worn only white socks he hasn't had any problems.

So please tell that big-mouth up there in Minneapolis it's unfair to judge people by the color of their socks. I don't like the looks of white socks either, but it's better than bandages.—NOT COLOR BLIND

DEAR NOT COLOR BLIND: I was surprised at the number of wives who wrote as you did to say their husbands wore white socks because of feet problems. Others wrote to say they like the looks of white socks, and whose business is it anyway?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 26, have been married for five years and have two darling youngsters. My problem is not serious but I want to handle it with care because it involves my youngest sister.

Sharon is 17 and graduated from high school a couple of weeks ago. She is a very pretty girl and an unabashed flirt. She has been batting her eyes at my husband since she was 13. I always considered her behavior more adolescent than damaging. My husband ignored her aggressiveness until recently when he said. "Your little sister is boy-crazy and I hope she outgrows it soon."

Last night Sharon brought her graduation pictures over. She had a large one framed for my husband's office—those were her instructions. On it she wrote, "To Jess, with all my love forever and ever."

My husband does not want to take the picture to his office but he is afraid of hurting her feelings. What is your advice?—L. L. S.

DEAR L. L. S.: The inscription disqualifies the picture from display anywhere. Keep it in the drawer. And if your sister inquires about it, Jess should tell her why it's NOT in his office.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE: Don't waste another minute on this dead, dead subject. Tack these wise words by Omar Khayyam over your kitchen sink where you can memorize them: "Nor all your piety nor wit can lure it back to cancel half a line—nor all your tears wash out a word of it."

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
3 NT	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Responding to opening bids in no trump is usually a rather routine proposition, since the no trump bidder has described his point count strength and distribution within precise limits. Responder can tell by totaling the combined assets just how far to go, and it is his duty to make the final decision for the team. Occasionally, however, the choice may revert to the opening bidder. Observe today's hand, taken from a recent tournament.

North's opening bid of three no trump was standard at all tables. He has the classic requirements—25 high card points and even distribution. South's response presented a point for variation. Holding a good six-card suit, a singleton and five high card points, there is no question but that he should make some attempt to reach slam. The problem hinges, however, not on the number of points North has, but rather on their quality. If he has too many queens and jacks, for example, the partnership may find itself off two fast tricks.

Most Souths chose to make their try by jumping beyond game to five spades. This bid was intended to ask partner to carry on to slam if he possessed sufficient primary controls. The North hand was a minimum three no trump bid in terms of points, but the solid holding in hearts and clubs as well as the ace of spades was quite impressive, and its holder usually chose to gamble out the diamond situation by proceeding to six spades. Observe that, if South's diamond and club holdings are interchanged, the slam becomes a laydown.

The slam was fulfilled at every table where it was bid because no West player was willing to lead from the doubleton king of diamonds. In fact, the taking of 13 tricks was routine since all of declarer's diamonds can be discarded on North's high clubs once trumps are drawn.

One player seated South was content to settle for a mere game contract in spades over the three no trump opening, but he found even this modest effort beyond his capabilities, when West came up with a fantastic defense. The king of diamonds was opened and the suit continued. After cashing the jack and ace of diamonds, East led a fourth round and West put the nine of spades to good use by forcing out North's ace. This established a trump trick for East and sent declarer down to a most humiliating defeat.

Mrs. Tony Martin

Joan Hirsch Becomes Bride Of Tony Martin

Miss Joan Hirsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hirsch, Brimfield, Ohio, became the bride of Tony Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Martin, LaVale, June 15.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in St. Patrick's Church, Kent, Ohio, with Rev. Allan Simpson officiating. Mrs. Karl Hirsch was her sister-in-law's matron of honor, while the bridesmaids were Mrs. James Wood, Miss Anne Hayden, Miss Sandra Kimball. Lori Weigand was flower girl and Matthew Hirsch, ringbearer. Paul Martin, Cumberland, served as his brother's best man. The ushers were Karl Hirsch, James Wood and Larry Lyle, all of Akron.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of silk peau de soie, buttoned down the back, fashioned with a neckline of embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls appliqued on the skirt, featuring a cathedral train. Her veil of illusion, with rolled hem, was attached to a tiara of pearls and crystals. Completing her costume, she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and lily of the valley.

Her attendants wore gowns of aqua taffeta with lace bodice and aqua bow and veiled headdress. They carried yellow cascade bouquets. The flower girl's frock was aqua organdy and she carried a basket of yellow rosebuds.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, with bachelor of science degrees in education. Both have accepted teaching positions in Allegany County. He will be at Valley High, Lonaconing, teaching instrumental music, while she will be on the faculty at Oldtown.

Following their trip to New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Martin are residing in Frostburg.

A demonstration on food will feature the meeting of the Cresap Homemakers Club, which will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Ralph Phillips, Cresap Park.

Decorations at a farewell "bachelor dinner" for the groom before his wedding day should be simple but bright and bold to capture heman interest, advises the Society of American Florists.

Hot Weather Freshness — Answers To Questions

Let's cope with mail bag questions about deodorants today. So many letters ask the same kind of questions at this time of year that the majority of them can be given the same answers.

Very often asked is what the difference is between a deodorant and an antiperspirant, and which should be used. The two are easy to confuse because both are called deodorants—but their action differs. The product, labelled deodorant alone, prevents or neutralizes odor but does not lessen perspiration moisture. The product identified as an antiperspirant, or perspiration check, both deodorizes and keeps the skin dry. Only those who perspire very little should use the preparation that does no more than deodorize. Either should be used half an hour before an action that causes perspiring. Otherwise, perspiration may wash them away before they have time to become effective.

Safety is another concern to questioners, some of whom hesitate to use as much as they need. Yes, antiperspirants are safe to use on the small areas of skin where they're needed, and every day, too, as they should be. The concentrated moisture which is held back on some areas releases harmlessly on wider areas of skin elsewhere.

Those who complain that antiperspirants do not work efficiently for them should keep trying new ones. This year's products are more effective than ever, and it's always true that some work best for some skin chemistries and others, for others. Dress shields also should be depended on for additional protection for those who perspire excessively, and for almost anyone during the hottest weather, or when exercising in the heat.

3 County Teachers Planning To Retire

Three veteran Allegany County school teachers have submitted letters to the Board of Education notifying of their retirements.

Mrs. Kathleen Sullivan, who has 40 years service, is leaving the school system after teaching at Mt. Royal School since 1940.

She attended elementary school in Pekin and graduated from the old Central High School in Lonaconing. She attended the former Frostburg Normal School and later took graduate work.

Mrs. Gladys L. Judy, with 39 years service, is leaving her teaching position at John Humbird Elementary School. She attended the former Union Street School graduated from Allegany County High School and Frostburg Normal School. Later she took graduate work at the University of Maryland.

She began her teaching career at the old Imes School in 1924 and the next year moved to John Humbird School where she taught for 38 years.

Miss Gertrude Williams, who has 37 years service in the school system, is leaving her post as a history teacher at Beall High School in Frostburg.

She graduated from Beall High School and Hood College and holds a master's degree. She taught at Midland from 1926 to 1930 and for one year at Mt. Savage High School. She has been at Beall High since 1931.

The retirements were announced by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, who said the three teachers have been excellent instructors during their career in the county.

Webster also announced that Mrs. Willis Smith is resigning as a secretary at Allegany High School effective June 30. She is being replaced by Mrs. Mary (Moore) Hoskins.

Complaint Made On Sewage Flow

Hazel Wilhelm, Mt. Savage Road, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to protest about a bad sewage condition in her neighborhood.

She stated that she had a septic tank installed to service her home but that certain other homes in the area dump raw sewage without use of a septic tank.

A complaint has been made to the County Health Department but no action has been taken pending a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court, she told the commissioners.

Seibert Qualifies As Bookbinder

Robert Gary Seibert, a former resident of Cumberland who attended LaVale Elementary School, was graduated recently as a journeyman bookbinder from the U. S. Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

This marked the 18th graduation of apprentices from the printing office and Seibert's apprenticeship was for five years.

Scholarship Is Awarded To Local Graduate

Miss Judith Ann Giles, Fort Hill High School 1963 graduate, is the winner of the 11th annual secretarial scholarship to Catherman's Business School.

The scholarship is awarded annually by the Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International) as its educational project to encourage higher education in the modern business field and help bring a higher professional level to secretaryship.

Miss Giles, an academic graduate, was one of the 34 students from Allegany County and Ridgeley, who took the competitive examination for the scholarship. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Giles, 537 Fort Avenue.

Her high school activities have been highlighted by active participation in Senior Band as clarinetist and majorette, Tri-Hi-Y, Student Council, director of Senior farewell assembly, May Day attendant, senior director May Day production, Thespian Troupe 230, Fort Hill Players, year book staff, Fort Hill tennis team and National Honor Society. Miss Giles is an active member of Rainbow Girls and Kingsley Methodist Church.

This year's winner is employed at Constitution Park as cashier-checker and will begin her full secretarian course at Catherman's Business School in September.

This year, the local chapter's education and scholarship committee activities were carried out by Miss Dorothy L. Campbell, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Kathryn P. Wilson, Mrs. Shirley Lutman, Miss Effie Fordyce, Miss Phyllis Adams and Miss Garnett Fazenbaker.

Miss Campbell congratulated Miss Giles on behalf of the Algonquin Chapter members and said the Chapter is proud to sponsor these scholarships and strive for the fulfillment of this year's N.S.A.'s theme, "To Produce Works One Must Have Knowledge," a quotation of Francis Bacon.

Raccoons take civilization in stride. Caught young, they make fairly affectionate pets, can be housebroken, and even have learned to tolerate dogs and cats, the National Geographic Society says. Young coons, however, are full of mischief and never tire of romping. They can deftly open doors, turn on faucets, and raid unguarded sugar bowls.

County Board Hears Plans For Cash Valley Road

A group of residents of the Long Drive area of LaVale appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to receve a report on the two plans for the Cash Valley Road project.

Wilson T. Ballard Sr., and his son, W. T. Ballard Jr., of the Baltimore firm of engineering consultants explained the two plans and the costs and other factors involved.

The younger Wilson outlined the two plans by use of large drawings which were displayed on one of the board room's walls.

Plan No. 1 would more or less follow the current roadway from its intersection with U. S. Route 40 to a point just beyond the Gramlich Road, which runs off the main road.

Ballard said that three homes would be taken as well as parts of property near others in the No. 1 plan. An eight-inch water line beneath the road would also have to be relocated and the curvature would be more than that for Plan No. 2, which would enter Route 40 from Long Drive.

Cost of the Plan No. 1 would be approximately $209,000, Ballard explained.

Plan No. 2, which the engineering firm is recommending, would cost about $161,800 and would provide better sight distances and improve the safety factor. The Long Drive route would also be a much straighter line and this also would improve the traffic safety factor, Ballard stated.

The group attending the session pointed out that the Methodist Church parking area is near the Long Drive route and poses a traffic hazard. No homes would be involved in the Long Drive plan, according to Ballard.

The final decision on which plan will be used is up to the county commissioners.

Others attending the meeting were Harold Hamilton, liaison engineer for the State Roads Commission with the federal government on matching fund programs; John Bushby, district SRC engineer; Albert S. Paye, county engineer and Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor.

Food Distribution Set

Surplus federal commodities will be distributed to residents of the Ridgeley area on Thursday from 9 a. m. to noon at the City Building. Qualified persons are to bring their own containers.

3 County Teachers Planning To Retire

Three veteran Allegany County school teachers have submitted letters to the Board of Education notifying of their retirements.

Mrs. Kathleen Sullivan, who has 40 years service, is leaving the school system after teaching at Mt. Royal School since 1940.

She attended elementary school in Pekin and graduated from the old Central High School in Lonaconing. She attended the former Frostburg Normal School and later took graduate work.

Mrs. Gladys L. Judy, with 39 years service, is leaving her teaching position at John Humbird Elementary School. She attended the former Union Street School graduated from Allegany County High School and Frostburg Normal School. Later she took graduate work at the University of Maryland.

She began her teaching career at the old Imes School in 1924 and the next year moved to John Humbird School where she taught for 38 years.

Miss Gertrude Williams, who has 37 years service in the school system, is leaving her post as a history teacher at Beall High School in Frostburg.

She graduated from Beall High School and Hood College and holds a master's degree. She taught at Midland from 1926 to 1930 and for one year at Mt. Savage High School. She has been at Beall High since 1931.

The retirements were announced by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, who said the three teachers have been excellent instructors during their career in the county.

Webster also announced that Mrs. Willis Smith is resigning as a secretary at Allegany High School effective June 30. She is being replaced by Mrs. Mary (Moore) Hoskins.

Complaint Made On Sewage Flow

Hazel Wilhelm, Mt. Savage Road, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to protest about a bad sewage condition in her neighborhood.

She stated that she had a septic tank installed to service her home but that certain other homes in the area dump raw sewage without use of a septic tank.

A complaint has been made to the County Health Department but no action has been taken pending a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court, she told the commissioners.

Seibert Qualifies As Bookbinder

Robert Gary Seibert, a former resident of Cumberland who attended LaVale Elementary School, was graduated recently as a journeyman bookbinder from the U. S. Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

This marked the 18th graduation of apprentices from the printing office and Seibert's apprenticeship was for five years.

Scholarship Is Awarded To Local Graduate

Miss Judith Ann Giles, Fort Hill High School 1963 graduate, is the winner of the 11th annual secretarial scholarship to Catherman's Business School.

The scholarship is awarded annually by the Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International) as its educational project to encourage higher education in the modern business field and help bring a higher professional level to secretaryship.

Miss Giles, an academic graduate, was one of the 34 students from Allegany County and Ridgeley, who took the competitive examination for the scholarship. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Giles, 537 Fort Avenue.

Her high school activities have been highlighted by active participation in Senior Band as clarinetist and majorette, Tri-Hi-Y, Student Council, director of Senior farewell assembly, May Day attendant, senior director May Day production, Thespian Troupe 230, Fort Hill Players, year book staff, Fort Hill tennis team and National Honor Society. Miss Giles is an active member of Rainbow Girls and Kingsley Methodist Church.

This year's winner is employed at Constitution Park as cashier-checker and will begin her full secretarian course at Catherman's Business School in September.

This year, the local chapter's education and scholarship committee activities were carried out by Miss Dorothy L. Campbell, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Kathryn P. Wilson, Mrs. Shirley Lutman, Miss Effie Fordyce, Miss Phyllis Adams and Miss Garnett Fazenbaker.

Miss Campbell congratulated Miss Giles on behalf of the Algonquin Chapter members and said the Chapter is proud to sponsor these scholarships and strive for the fulfillment of this year's N.S.A.'s theme, "To Produce Works One Must Have Knowledge," a quotation of Francis Bacon.

Raccoons take civilization in stride. Caught young, they make fairly affectionate pets, can be housebroken, and even have learned to tolerate dogs and cats, the National Geographic Society says. Young coons, however, are full of mischief and never tire of romping. They can deftly open doors, turn on faucets, and raid unguarded sugar bowls.

County Board Hears Plans For Cash Valley Road

A group of residents of the Long Drive area of LaVale appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to receve a report on the two plans for the Cash Valley Road project.

Wilson T. Ballard Sr., and his son, W. T. Ballard Jr., of the Baltimore firm of engineering consultants explained the two plans and the costs and other factors involved.

The younger Wilson outlined the two plans by use of large drawings which were displayed on one of the board room's walls.

Plan No. 1 would more or less follow the current roadway from its intersection with U. S. Route 40 to a point just beyond the Gramlich Road, which runs off the main road.

Ballard said that three homes would be taken as well as parts of property near others in the No. 1 plan. An eight-inch water line beneath the road would also have to be relocated and the curvature would be more than that for Plan No. 2, which would enter Route 40 from Long Drive.

Cost of the Plan No. 1 would be approximately $209,000, Ballard explained.

Plan No. 2, which the engineering firm is recommending, would cost about $161,800 and would provide better sight distances and improve the safety factor. The Long Drive route would also be a much straighter line and this also would improve the traffic safety factor, Ballard stated.

The group attending the session pointed out that the Methodist Church parking area is near the Long Drive route and poses a traffic hazard. No homes would be involved in the Long Drive plan, according to Ballard.

The final decision on which plan will be used is up to the county commissioners.

Others attending the meeting were Harold Hamilton, liaison engineer for the State Roads Commission with the federal government on matching fund programs; John Bushby, district SRC engineer; Albert S. Paye, county engineer and Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor.

Food Distribution Set

Surplus federal commodities will be distributed to residents of the Ridgeley area on Thursday from 9 a. m. to noon at the City Building. Qualified persons are to bring their own containers.

Packet Boat Carries W. Va. Centennial Mail

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A packet boat that started out with a load of mail from Wheeling Thursday as part of West Virginia's Centennial Celebration arrived here Monday afternoon.

The small sternwheeler, owned and piloted by Frederick Way Jr., Sewickley, Pa., docked at the Kanawha River levee in downtown Charleston where a Post Office truck was waiting to unload its cargo, mostly for Centennial collectors.

The boat, named "Lady Grace," was the first such craft to make a mail run on the Ohio and Kanawha Rivers in about 80 years. The last boat believed to have made the mail run was the Chesapeake which had the dubious distinction of possibly being the only boat sunk in a collision with a wagon.

Way said the accident occurred in 1887 while the boat was tied up at the Monongahela Wharf in Pittsburgh. He said some children knocked blocks away from the front wheels of the wagon, sending it crashing into the Chesapeake. The boat sank and was junked.

For a stag party that would rate high on any man's list, use black and white checked table cloth, red napkins and white plates. Insert huge white carnation "boutonnieres," ringed with pittosporum foliage, at the base of black candlesticks arranged in tier fashion for the centerpiece.

County Draws $287,357 In Tax

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The comptroller's office is mailing checks totaling $15,301,892 to Maryland's political subdivisions as their share of income tax collections for the calendar year 1963.

They boost to $23.7 million the total income tax the state has distributed during the current fiscal year which ends Sunday. Other funds were from delinquent taxes collected for prior years, and advances which local governments can draw from the state on collections.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the total amount is $1.5 million higher than the state has ever before shared with cities and counties.

The City of Baltimore received $6,265,760, the 23 counties received $15,480,985 and the 160 incorporated municipalities and taxing districts got $2,045,477.

The distributions included:

Allegany County — $287,357 to the county and $174,404 to municipalities.

Carroll — $203,620 to county and $43,244 to municipalities.

Frederick — $257,137 to county and $105,778 to municipalities.

Garrett — $30,813 to county and $10,245 to municipalities.

Montgomery — $4,272,325 to county and $469,288 to municipalities.

Washington — $335,195 to county and $134,845 to municipalities.

The planning commission made plans at the end of the hearing to meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall to continue work on the subdivision regulation proposals and to begin a study of a Land Use and Community Facilities proposal.

provide somewhere between $747,000 and $833,000 toward the cost of the completed sewer system.

Another visitor at last night's meeting, Henry Glendenning of the Philadelphia investment banking firm of Butcher and Sherrerd, offered the commission members figures on the annual cost of the sewers under 30-year and 40-year bond issues.

Interest at 3½%

For a 30-year issue, Mr. Glendenning estimates that the average interest rate would be three-and-one-half per cent. The annual debt service requirements would be $46,980 and the total interest over the life of the issue would amount to $561,470. On a 40-year issue, he predicts a three-and-three-quarter per cent interest, a lower annual debt service cost of $41,330 but an overall much higher total interest of $812,995.

Although the commission took no definite action, the commission members seem to feel that the overall saving of about $250,000 on the life of the bond issue would justify the 30-year issue.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the commission, said Conda Smith, developer of Rawlings Heights, has began pushing plans for a private sewage treatment plant in that area. The county has indicated that the assessed valuation is not sufficient for a commission-operated treatment plant. Some decision is needed here so that the private development can be pushed with the health department's approval.

Mr. Glass also told the commission members that preliminary plans on the Cresaptown sewage system should be finished in three months and the project should be ready for bids in six months.

Members of the sanitary commission are Playford Aldridge, chairman; Robert Reinhard, Alvin H. Rankin, Russell G. Robeson, George K. Steiner, Joseph O. Mello and Kenneth E. Kennedy.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special) — A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma — the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in tiny tablets called BRONITIN®.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is: free breathing is restored, tension eased and so fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep.

What Good Would The Woodshed Do?

Did the "woodshed" ever prevent juvenile delinquency? Possibly. But inmates of institutions for delinquents have had their full share of beatings. The woodshed is hardly the panacea its advocates imagine it to be.

Delinquency has many causes, and many weapons are needed to save or cure the individuals it threatens. Talk about taking 'em to the woodshed, as if it were a panacea, is too often a substitute for other forms of thinking and constructive action.

A juvenile delinquent is loyal—to the gang. He is responsible or courageous where the gang expects it of him. The gang gives him a sense of belonging. The family once claimed loyalty and courage from its members. It meant all for one and one for all. It was a protection for the individual and something for the individual to protect.

The family is not doing its job when juveniles seeking a focus for their virtues and needs can find no better substitute than a gang. If the family is failing as a framework for individual virtues and group loyalties, there is a greater sickness in society than a wilderness of woodsheds can heal.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Progress And The Negro

It has become ritualistic with a certain type of "liberal" to bewail the "image" that the United States presents abroad because of its racial troubles. The self-flagellating liberal does nothing to state the case for the truthful image of America, which is one of halting, hesitant, spotty but nonetheless genuine progress in relations between the races.

The very fact that the Negro has reached the point of daring to organize marches and counter-marches to demand new civil rights all over the nation bespeaks a confidence that rests on a slow long-term development that the self-flagellating liberal never mentions when he is busy apologizing to the rest of the world. To listen to this type of liberal you wouldn't know that the Negro has staged a dramatic break-through in virtually every important realm of self-expression. The Negro has certainly not been in bondage here.

To put things in perspective, let's run over the lists for a bit.

In the world of the dance Negroes have been doing marvelous things. There is James Mitchell in ballet and Mary Hinkson in the Martha Graham Modern Dance Company. The Talley Beatty Group astounds audiences with its ferocious energy. Donald McKayle, or Danny, as he is known to everybody, has just carried off the Capezio Award for 1963 for his translation of deeply rooted American folk material—street games, modern blues, and so on—into first-rate theatrical dances.

In music there are Marian Anderson and Leontyne Price. Everybody knows Louis Armstrong, of course. Long ago both Charles Gilpin and Paul Robeson broke a pathway to the Broadway stage, using Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones" as their vehicle. Before becoming an actor with an international reputation who played a remarkable "Othello" in London, Robeson was an All-American football player at Rutgers.

In all varieties of sport the Negro has been writing a fascinating and substantial history. No one could track a line to beat the late Ernie Davis of Syracuse University. The fans of Birmingham, Ala., who have never had a chance to watch Willie Mays make one of his basket catches in center field have no idea what they have been missing. "Satchel" Paige, who has continued to pitch great baseball well into his fifties, is not only a fine athlete with public acceptance in at least forty-eight states, but a droll wit whose remarks—such as "never look back, somebody might be gaining on you"—are repeated everywhere.

This columnist is now fifty-nine years old. The first essay he ever had published in a magazine was called "The Negro as Writer." It appeared in the now defunct Bookman more than thirty years ago, and it concentrated, as I recall it, through the mists of time, on the work of such nineteenth century Negro novelists as Charles W. Chesnutt and the Negro poet, Paul Laurence Dunbar. Since then Negro writers have been appearing all over the place.

James Baldwin is only the most recent in a group of vibrant protestors against the fates reaching back to Claude McKay, author of an excellent novel called "Home to Harlem," which appeared in the nineteen thirties. McKay was also a fine poet, as witness his sonnet that begins with the line "If we must die, let it not be like hogs." Other Negro writers who never had trouble getting through to white audiences include Richard Wright, Langston Hughes, Countee Cullen and Gwendolyn Brooks.

No, the Negro has had no great difficulty making himself heard. But, as George Schuyler, the Negro journalist and historian, writes, the Negro has not always used his money wisely to solve his own economic problems. "If we can build million-dollar churches," says Mr. Schuyler, "we can build plenty of $40,000 houses for the 'talented tenth' or buy into co-operative apartment houses. There must be a half thousand cities and towns where Negro-owned businesses could do as well as white-owned businesses. Funds now being sought to bail picketers out of jail would certainly help finance a holding company to establish Negro-owned businesses in the general mart."

Furthermore, Mr. Schuyler suggests that such businesses would enable the Negro to support a commercial bank.

"The Chinese-Americans have several commercial banks," he says, "we have but two to my knowledge. We are twenty million strong; they are about 238,000."

Oh, Hear The Distant Thunder's Hum!

A 'New Age' Or A Long Night Of Terror?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

As such things go, the President's White House meeting with the leaders of the principal Negro organizations seems to have been highly successful. But imbedded in the meeting, so to say, there was also a fragment of impossible dialogue.

This dialogue, impossible in the sense that the participants were quite largely speaking at cross purposes, was deeply revealing for this very reason. It began even before the main meeting, when the President and the Rev. Martin Luther King talked briefly alone.

The President was fearful that King would actually hurt the chances of the new Civil Rights Bill, by the huge demonstration that is being planned for Washington in August, in the expectation of a need to protest a filibuster of the Civil Rights Bill.

But Martin Luther King was mainly fearful that if the Negro people did not "keep the pressure up," the deep-rooted problems that have caused the current crisis would soon be forgotten again, as they have been in the past. He could only promise the President to do everything in his power to insure a peaceful, law-abiding march on Washington.

At the main meeting, the question of demonstrations and their political effects was again raised, this time by one of the Negro leaders, Whitney M. Young Jr., the able director of the Urban League. Once again, there were warnings, amply justified by much evidence from all over the country, of the political dangers of going too far.

"The President didn't seem to realize at first that not a person in that room could stop the demonstrations, even if he wanted to," one of those present said later. "The issue, which I think he realized pretty quickly, is not whether we can stop the demonstrations. We can't. The issue is, rather, whether the responsible Negro leaders can go on channeling the pent-up emotions and frustrations of our people into peaceful, non-violent expressions."

After the meeting was over, Martin Luther King had his own comments to make on the same point, in his characteristic, oddly Biblical style: "We stand today on the threshold of a new age," he said, "or at any rate, I hope so. But we would not be standing where we are now if we had heeded the advice of our more cautious friends.

"They were worried by the Freedom Riders. They thought we ought to wait, in Birmingham, until the new city administration took over. But if we'd waited in Birmingham, I kind of think there might not be a Civil Rights Bill now. And if our people do not now have peaceful, non-violent outlets for their feelings, there will be more danger of a dark night of terror."

If you think about the exchanges at the White House meeting and Martin Luther King's subsequent comment, they will be seen to sum up all the main political aspects of one of the most painful and urgent problems the United States has ever faced.

The President is of course right to worry about the proposed Washington demonstration's being counter-productive. Anything that suggests a Negro attempt to intimidate or bully the Congress will have the opposite of the desired effect.

By the same token, the President and Attorney-General Robert Kennedy are of course right to be haunted by the nightmare already described in a previous report in this space. If the Negro drive for equal rights spills over into excess, whether by intent or by accident, the moderate white opinion that has thus far supported the Negro drive will quite suddenly turn sour, with the gravest imaginable consequences.

Yet the Negro leaders are also quite obviously right, in their insistence that they could not stop now, even if they wished to do so. And they are also right when they point out that they have only got as far as they have got by going out of the courts of justice and taking their cause into the streets.

The simple fact that both the President and the Negro leaders were entirely right, even though their dialogue about this matter verges on the impossible, in turn proves how delicate, dangerous, and urgent this matter now is. Right there is the central point.

The Civil Rights Bill the President has now sent to Congress is quite unlike any of the similar measures of the past. It cannot safely be paltered with, or filibustered out of existence, or compromised to the semi-vanishing point, as has happened to most of its predecessors.

Dealing with the new bill in this manner, in the existing climate of the Negro community, will invite something like a nationwide explosion. If we are not "standing on the threshold of a new age," in fact, we are probably standing on the brink of the worst domestic trouble this country has seen for many years.

Inside Washington

OFFICIAL EDITING—For as long as anyone around the Capitol can remember, congressmen and senators have been saying one thing in the session, then editing their remarks before they're printed in the official Congressional Record. In fact, in times past, some legislators would edit in parenthetical "applause" notations even though the handful of colleagues present had sat on their hands throughout the entire oration.

But it took Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of the House Interior Committee, to come up with a new wrinkle or the official editing business. After a public hearing before his group, Aspinall warned the supectators that a verbatim transcript of what they had heard was not official.

Aspinall explained that the permanent record of his committee's proceedings were not official until the members had edited it, and therefore, it would be against committee rules to make the uncorrected, verbatim transcript generally available. He was, in effect, telling those present that they should not completely believe what they had heard.

Actually, Aspinall isn't original in his views on the matter. But he's the first congressional chairman in recent times to be so blunt about it.

President's Visit To Berlin Wall Could Wither The Olive Branch

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When President Kennedy goes up to the Berlin wall today a lot of people will be watching him. The East German guards across the wall will be watching. The West Berliners will be watching. The diplomats of Europe will be watching. But perhaps most of all, the policy-makers in the Kremlin will be watching; also his own advisors back in Washington.

What they and the Kremlin will be watching is to see whether the President blows his own American University speech of June 10.

This was the speech which pointed to the 20,000,000 casualties suffered by the Russians in the last war, also pointed to the fact that Russia and the United States had never been opposed to each other in war, and argued that war was so terrible we have to co-exist.

The speech was considered such an important overture to the USSR that it was published in full in Izvestia and Pravda, and began to warm up some of the recent hard-line policies of the Kremlin. It also brought renewed attacks on Khrushchev from the Red Chinese, was labeled by the Chinese as a "cunning and sinister plot to divide Moscow and Peking," and probably hastened the signing of the U.S.-USSR agreement for a hot teletype line between the Kremlin and the Pentagon.

Finally, it may have had something to do with the recent speech by Soviet Ambassador Fedorenko at the U.N. withdrawing that one-time Khrushchev boast that he would "bury us."

Kremlin Divisions

However, the speech was greeted by skepticism by some inside the Kremlin. There is by no means unity inside the Communist world, and some Kremlin advisors suggested that the President didn't really mean what he said when he talked so eloquently about better understanding, that actually the speech was a tactical device to put the United States in a good light prior to a deadlock on nuclear test ban negotiations.

So today in Berlin will be the real test of whether Kennedy meant what he said in his American University speech.

There is no place which makes a better platform for hell-bent-for-leather speeches than the ground adjacent to the Berlin wall. Here the passions of the West Berliners are likely to ignite the most impassive speaker. Here it is routine to open old wounds, wave the flag, and goad the Russian bear.

The President will have alongside him as he travels through the charred rubble near the Berlin wall one of the most famous and effective goaders of the Russian bear — Gen. Lucius Clay. Clay will be standing beside him on the steps of the Rathaus — the Berlin City Hall — when the President dedicates a new plaque on the Freedom Bell, a gift from Americans to the people of Berlin during the Berlin airlift.

That airlift marked a great victory for the free world over Stalinism, and the freedom bell is a great monument to its memory. They should not be forgotten.

But according to the President's own speech at American University, things have changed since then. Stalin, the man who attempted the blockade of West Berlin has been dead for ten years. His body has been removed from its place of honor in the Kremlin.

An argument for and against his policies has split the two biggest Communist countries — China and Russia — wide open. At another meeting in Berlin on January 15—this one on the eastern side of the wall — Communist delegates hooted and howled at the Chinese delegate at an East Berlin state dinner after he advocated the war policies of Stalin. He sat alone as speaker after speaker poured on the ridicule.

This was a private meeting, not meant for Western headlines, and more significant because it was private.

Today's meeting between Berliners and President Kennedy on the Western side of the wall will be meant for headlines. On how those headlines read will depend the future test ban talks in Moscow, the talks between the Russians and the Chinese, and most of all whether the more moderate forces inside the Kremlin take seriously the olive branch in President Kennedy's American University speech.

Several top Soviet diplomats attended a private screening the other day of the movie, "The Mouse on The Moon," which spoofs both the United States and Russia.

Editors who feature Sen. Barry Goldwater's column are wondering whether they'll have to give equal space to Goldwater's competitors for the GOP nomination. . . . If JFK could persuade Oscar Chapman, former Secretary of the Interior, to become U. S. Ambassador to Haiti, it would be a ten-strike. The problem in Haiti is one of persuasion, not bulldozing President Duvalier. He's been bulldozed by experts, thumbs his nose in return. Chapman knows Haiti, knows how to get fur-stroking results.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Bank robbery, as a profession, has fallen on evil days. In the old West, it was almost respectable. A man could kick a bank safe open with a wet moccasin. Today, there are more banks and more bank robbers, but the robbers are mostly dunces who couldn't sell a cold beer in Death Valley. Or buy one.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has sent the current figures on bank robbery. It's a dismal story. If I had a son who was majoring in bank robbery, I would try to dissuade him in favor of something profitable, like selling American flags at the Kremlin.

The average bank robber, the FBI tells me, is a lone male. He strikes on Mondays or Fridays between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. He enters without disguise, asks a teller for money, and threatens the bank employe with a revolver. If the teller doesn't tell him to scram, or doesn't press an alarm button, or doesn't shoot the robber, or signal the bank guard, he may give the bandit some money.

This averages $6,098.80 per successful robbery. I can do better with a pair of sun glasses and a tin cup. Last year, there were 678 bank robberies in the United States, slightly less than half of which occurred in three states: California, New York and Ohio. The rate of profit is so low that one bank robber was found to have held up five banks in a row. He was probably trying to break even.

A file was made of 152 bank robberies. Of these, 111 cases involved one man; 31 used two men; nine had three; and only one required four. In 100 of the cases, revolvers were the weapons of choice. Nine bandits used shotguns; 10 used toy guns; no weapon was necessary in 33 cases.

In 18 cases, the robbers got no money. In 134 cases, they raked in the cash, but it was recovered in 57 of these. "Bait money," which is money in which the bank has copied the serial numbers, was taken in 52 cases. The smallest amount a robber walked out with was $5; the largest was $102,176.51.

When the dust settled, and the FBI had finished making arrests, the average of all bank robberies had dropped to $2,888.75. One robber was nabbed, and complained that his loot had been stolen from him by a sneak thief. Nothing is sacred these days. Two other robbers made neat getaways, only to find themselves chased by dogs outside the bank. They dropped over half the take trying to outrun the bow-wows.

Another was running down a hallway when a passerby stopped him. "You're dropping money," the man said, pointing. The bandit thanked him, and stopped to pick it up. Of all cases, shots were fired in only six. The toll: two wounded tellers, one wounded bandit. In the latter case, a customer took the robber's gun from him and shot him with it. Since the time of the James Boys and the Daltons, nobody plays by the rules.

I'll go further. All bank robbers are crazy. One walked into a branch office with a shotgun, got $10,000 from the teller, and spent 15 minutes talking about the size of his hangover. The bandit felt so bad he handed the money back and walked out.

No brains, just nerve. One aimed a gun at a teller and said: "This is a stickup." The teller dropped to the floor. The bank robber looked disgusted, walked to the next window where the president of the bank was standing. The thief walked out with $500. As Molly Goldberg used to say: "This is a living?"

One crook turned out to be the champ hard-luck bank robber. He held up a teller while two FBI agents were waiting in line. They were mean enough to let him get the money in his hands before they collared him. With his luck, he'll probably devise a soft drink called Six Up.

Three women tried to rob banks. All three got nothing and were captured. In another case, the bandit warned the teller not to press the alarm button. The teller didn't. He just walked away. He was behind bullet-proof glass. The bandit ran off, muttering to himself.

The deck is stacked against the bank robber. He thinks that the gun in his pocket is equal to the courage of the teller, the proximity of the bank guard, and alarm system, the local police department, the state police, the bait money, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Swindling romantic old ladies is a simpler way of earning a living.

One intellectual bandit handed a literate note to a teller. "Please put the money in this bag and no one will get hurt," it read. "Thank you." The teller called the bank guard and gave it to him. The bank guard read it and turned a dark glance on the bandit. "Get out, you bum," he roared, "or I'll blow your brains out." The bandit fled.

No self-respect. He's probably back on relief . . .

Evidence Of Cancer Increase Among Animals

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is a fair amount of evidence that cancers are increasing among several populations of animals, according to an article in The Sciences. Indications along this line are easiest to get in zoos and less so among wild and farm animals.

Certain strains of cancer susceptible mice have been developed in the laboratory. It might be possible to develop cancer-resistant animals, especially on farms. This is not as farfetched as it sounds, considering the rise in cancer hazards such as radioactive fallout, herbicides, and industrial and urban water pollution.

We must re-emphasize that there is no scientific proof that cancer is on the increase among cattle in this country. In Denmark, certain cancers in cows are reportable. They are caused by viruses and when cancer is found, the entire herd is slaughtered; the government pays the farmer for the loss. They hope to find the extent of the problem in this way.

Body sites affected by cancer often are the same in dogs as in man. These include the breast, skin, ovaries, blood forming system, andt he nervous system. Less is known about cancer in cats except that it often is complicated by anemia and infection.

Research in another direction was conducted in a boys' camp by Dr. Otto Klineberg of Columbia university. The aim of this project was an attempt to ease global tension. Friction was incited deliberately among groups of boys until they hated one another. Then a series of crises was created to determine whether they could work together. They could and did.

Dr. Klineberg concluded that the world needs a super-project to get the United States and Russia to work together. Research in space might be one way. Another would be programs to promote child health because Russians and Americans alike love their children. But it will take more than this because both of these projects are available in that both countries are working on space programs and have been active for years in promoting child health.

BRAIN X-RAY

M. S. writes: What does a pneumoencephalogram show?

REPLY

In this procedure, the cerebrospinal fluid is replaced by air to visualize certain cavities or passageways of the brain. Air is much darker than the brain tissues when seen on X-rays. It makes an excellent contrast medium to demonstrate tumors or other abnormalities that are pushing or crowding the cavities.

REFUSES VEGETABLES

B. C. writes: What can be done for a little fellow of 3 who can't be forced, coaxed, or bribed to eat vegetables? I know he must be missing vitamins and other food elements through this abstinence.

REPLY

Let him alone, as all children go through these phases. He will obtain enough vitamins through eating other foods. If you are concerned, give him a daily vitamin-mineral capsule.

BEE THERAPY

W. W. writes: Are bee stings good for rheumatism?

REPLY

Good results have been noted in a few victims but the percentage is too small to recommend the procedure. It might interest our younger readers to know that bee venom was popular years ago but lost out when it failed to live up to expectations.

KIDNEY AND LIVER

C. I. writes: Are nephritis and hepatitis the same?

REPLY

No. The first represents inflammation of the kidney; the second, of the liver.

CHILLS AND FEVER

Mrs. R. writes: My husband has a bladder infection for which he is taking sulfa tablets. Do you think the infection or the pills could cause him to have evening spells of chills and fever?

REPLY

Bladder infection is a more likely cause of chills and fever, especially if the sulfa tablets are not doing the job.

NEW HAIR IS WHITE

Mrs. H. writes: A friend's 68-year-old husband's hair fell out in spots. The new hair growing in is pure white. Isn't this peculiar?

REPLY

Not if his hair was white before it fell out. Alopecia areata is not common at his age but when it occurs the new hair is likely to be downy or white.

PSYCHIC FATIGUE

F. L. writes: I am always tired but blood and other tests showed everything is fine. Do you think I have neurasthenia?

REPLY

Yes, provided your physician is convinced there is no other cause for your fatigue. Neurasthenia is nervous exhaustion. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on fatigue.

TOMORROW: Cosmetic and household chemicals.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A venerable bishop got tired of receiving pleas for aid from the pastor of one of his most impoverished parishes, and wrote to the pastor, "These pleas must stop. I can do nothing more for you." For a full two months, not another word was heard from the chagrined pastor. Then, one day, the bishop got another letter from him. It read, "This is not an appeal. It is a report. I have no pants."

"Sorry, madam," said a courteous ticket taker at a movie palace, "but you may not take that dog inside."

"Don't be ridiculous," snapped the lady. "What possible harm can a nudist movie do a little dog like this?"

Mr. Sneedle, wont to imbibe at least four martinis with every lunch was not too spry when he wobbled back to his office. His secretary found a way of protecting him, however. She told callers sweetly, "Can Mr. Sneedle call you back later? He's still out from lunch."

What Good Would The Woodshed Do?

Did the "woodshed" ever prevent juvenile delinquency? Possibly. But inmates of institutions for delinquents have had their full share of beatings. The woodshed is hardly the panacea its advocates imagine it to be.

Delinquency has many causes, and many weapons are needed to save or cure the individuals it threatens. Talk about taking 'em to the woodshed, as if it were a panacea, is too often a substitute for other forms of thinking and constructive action.

A juvenile delinquent is loyal—to the gang. He is responsible or courageous where the gang expects it of him. The gang gives him a sense of belonging. The family once claimed loyalty and courage from its members. It meant all for one and one for all. It was a protection for the individual and something for the individual to protect.

The family is not doing its job when juveniles seeking a focus for their virtues and needs can find no better substitute than a gang. If the family is failing as a framework for individual virtues and group loyalties, there is a greater sickness in society than a wilderness of woodsheds can heal.

These Days

Progress And The Negro

It has become ritualistic with a certain type of "liberal" to bewail the "image" that the United States presents abroad because of its racial troubles. The self-flagellating liberal does nothing to state the case for the truthful image of America, which is one of halting, hesitant, spotty but nonetheless genuine progress in relations between the races.

The very fact that the Negro has reached the point of daring to organize marches and counter-marches to demand new civil rights all over the nation bespeaks a confidence that rests on a slow long-term development that the self-flagellating liberal never mentions when he is busy apologizing to the rest of the world. To listen to this type of liberal you wouldn't know that the Negro has staged a dramatic break-through in virtually every important realm of self-expression. The Negro has certainly not been in bondage here.

To put things in perspective, let's run over the lists for a bit.

In the world of the dance Negroes have been doing marvelous things. There is James Mitchell in ballet and Mary Hinkson in the Martha Graham Modern Dance Company. The Talley Beatty Group astounds audiences with its ferocious energy. Donald McKayle, or Danny, as he is known to everybody, has just carried off the Capezio Award for 1963 for his translation of deeply rooted American folk material—street games, modern blues, and so on—into first-rate theatrical dances.

In music there are Marian Anderson and Leontyne Price. Everybody knows Louis Armstrong, of course. Long ago both Charles Gilpin and Paul Robeson broke a pathway to the Broadway stage, using Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones" as their vehicle. Before becoming an actor with an international reputation who played a remarkable "Othello" in London, Robeson was an All-American football player at Rutgers.

In all varieties of sport the Negro has been writing a fascinating and substantial history. No one could track a line to beat the late Ernie Davis of Syracuse University. The fans of Birmingham, Ala., who have never had a chance to watch Willie Mays make one of his basket catches in center field have no idea what they have been missing. "Satchel" Paige, who has continued to pitch great baseball well into his fifties, is not only a fine athlete with public acceptance in at least forty-eight states, but a droll wit whose remarks—such as "never look back, somebody might be gaining on you"—are repeated everywhere.

This columnist is now fifty-nine years old. The first essay he ever had published in a magazine was called "The Negro as Writer." It appeared in the now defunct Bookman more than thirty years ago, and it concentrated, as I recall it, through the mists of time, on the work of such nineteenth century Negro novelists as Charles W. Chesnutt and the Negro poet, Paul Laurence Dunbar. Since then Negro writers have been appearing all over the place.

James Baldwin is only the most recent in a group of vibrant protestors against the fates reaching back to Claude McKay, author of an excellent novel called "Home to Harlem," which appeared in the nineteen thirties. McKay was also a fine poet, as witness his sonnet that begins with the line "If we must die, let it not be like hogs." Other Negro writers who never had trouble getting through to white audiences include Richard Wright, Langston Hughes, Countee Cullen and Gwendolyn Brooks.

No, the Negro has had no great difficulty making himself heard. But, as George Schuyler, the Negro journalist and historian, writes, the Negro has not always used his money wisely to solve his own economic problems. "If we can build million-dollar churches," says Mr. Schuyler, "we can build plenty of $40,000 houses for the 'talented tenth' or buy into cooperative apartment houses. There must be a half thousand cities and towns where Negro-owned businesses could do as well as white-owned businesses. Funds now being sought to bail picketers out of jail would certainly help finance a holding company to establish Negro-owned businesses in the general mart."

Furthermore, Mr. Schuyler suggests that such businesses would enable the Negro to support a commercial bank.

"The Chinese-Americans have several commercial banks," he says, "we have but two to my knowledge. We are twenty million strong; they are about 238,000."

Oh, Hear The Distant Thunder's Hum!

A 'New Age' Or A Long Night Of Terror?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

As such things go, the President's White House meeting with the leaders of the principal Negro organizations seems to have been highly successful. But imbedded in the meeting, so to say, there was also a fragment of impossible dialogue.

This dialogue, impossible in the sense that the participants were quite largely speaking at cross purposes, was deeply revealing for this very reason. It began even before the main meeting, when the President and the Rev. Martin Luther King talked briefly alone.

The President was fearful that King would actually hurt the chances of the new Civil Rights Bill, by the huge demonstration that is being planned for Washington in August, in the expectation of a need to protest a filibuster of the Civil Rights Bill.

But Martin Luther King was mainly fearful that if the Negro people did not "keep the pressure up," the deep-rooted problems that have caused the current crisis would soon be forgotten again, as they have been in the past. He could only promise the President to do everything in his power to insure a peaceful, law-abiding march on Washington.

At the main meeting, the question of demonstrations and their political effects was again raised, this time by one of the Negro leaders, Whitney M. Young Jr., the able director of the Urban League. Once again, there were warnings, amply justified by much evidence from all over the country, of the political dangers of going too far.

"The President didn't seem to realize at first that not a person in that room could stop the demonstrations, even if he wanted to," one of those present said later. "The issue, which I think he realized pretty quickly, is not whether we can stop the demonstrations. We can't. The issue is, rather, whether the responsible Negro leaders can go on channeling the pent-up emotions and frustrations of our people into peaceful, non-violent expressions."

After the meeting was over, Martin Luther King had his own comments to make on the same point, in his characteristic, oddly Biblical style: "We stand today on the threshold of a new age," he said, "or at any rate, I hope so. But we would not be standing where we are now if we had heeded the advice of our more cautious friends.

"They were worried by the Freedom Riders. They thought we ought to wait, in Birmingham, until the new city administration took over. But if we'd waited in Birmingham, I kind of think there might not be a Civil Rights Bill now. And if our people do not now have peaceful, non-violent outlets for their feelings, there will be more danger of a dark night of terror."

If you think about the exchanges at the White House meeting and Martin Luther King's subsequent comment, they will be seen to sum up all the main political aspects of one of the most painful and urgent problems the United States has ever faced.

The President is of course right to worry about the proposed Washington demonstration's being counter-productive. Anything that suggests a Negro attempt to intimidate or bully the Congress will have the opposite of the desired effect.

By the same token, the President and Attorney-General Robert Kennedy are of course right to be haunted by the nightmare already described in a previous report in this space. If the Negro drive for equal rights spills over into excess, whether by intent or by accident, the moderate white opinion that has thus far supported the Negro drive will quite suddenly turn sour, with the gravest imaginable consequences.

Yet the Negro leaders are also quite obviously right, in their insistence that they could not stop now, even if they wished to do so. And they are also right when they point out that they have only got as far as they have got by going out of the courts of justice and taking their cause into the streets.

The simple fact that both the President and the Negro leaders were entirely right, even though their dialogue about this matter verges on the impossible, in turn proves how delicate, dangerous, and urgent this matter now is. Right there is the central point.

The Civil Rights Bill the President has now sent to Congress is quite unlike any of the similar measures of the past. It cannot safely be paltered with, or filibustered out of existence, or compromised to the semi-vanishing point, as has happened to most of its predecessors.

Dealing with the new bill in this manner, in the existing climate of the Negro community, will invite something like a nationwide explosion. If we are not "standing on the threshold of a new age," in fact, we are probably standing on the brink of the worst domestic trouble this country has seen for many years.

Editors who feature Sen. Barry Goldwater's column are wondering whether they'll have to give equal space to Goldwater's competitors for the GOP nomination. . . . If JFK could persuade Oscar Chapman, former Secretary of the Interior, to become U. S. Ambassador to Haiti, it would be a ten-strike. The problem in Haiti is one of persuasion, not bulldozing President Duvalier. He's been bulldozed by experts, thumbs his nose in return. Chapman knows Haiti, knows how to get fur-stroking results.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Bank robbery, as a profession, has fallen on evil days. In the old West, it was almost respectable. A man could kick a bank safe open with a wet moccasin. Today, there are more banks and more bank robbers, but the robbers are mostly dunces who couldn't sell a cold beer in Death Valley. Or buy one.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has sent the current figures on bank robbery. It's a dismal story. If I had a son who was majoring in bank robbery, I would try to dissuade him in favor of something profitable, like selling American flags at the Kremlin.

The average bank robber, the FBI tells me, is a lone male. He strikes on Mondays or Fridays between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. He enters without disguise, asks a teller for money, and threatens the bank employe with a revolver. If the teller doesn't tell him to scram, or doesn't press an alarm button, or doesn't shoot the robber, or signal the bank guard, he may give the bandit some money.

This averages $6,098.80 per successful robbery. I can do better with a pair of sun glasses and a tin cup. Last year, there were 678 bank robberies in the United States, slightly less than half of which occurred in three states: California, New York and Ohio. The rate of profit is so low that one bank robber was found to have held up five banks in a row. He was probably trying to break even.

A file was made of 152 bank robberies. Of these, 111 cases involved one man; 31 used two men; nine had three; and only one required four. In 100 of the cases, revolvers were the weapons of choice. Nine bandits used shotguns; 10 used toy guns; no weapon was necessary in 33 cases.

In 18 cases, the robbers got no money. In 134 cases, they raked in the cash, but it was recovered in 57 of these. "Bait money," which is money in which the bank has copied the serial numbers, was taken in 52 cases. The smallest amount a robber walked out with was $5; the largest was $102,176.51.

When the dust settled, and the FBI had finished making arrests, the average of all bank robberies had dropped to $2,888.75. One robber was nabbed, and complained that his loot had been stolen from him by a sneak thief. Nothing is sacred these days. Two other robbers made neat getaways, only to find themselves chased by dogs outside the bank. They dropped over half the take trying to outrun the bow-wows.

Another was running down a hallway when a passerby stopped him. "You're dropping money," the man said, pointing. The bandit thanked him, and stopped to pick it up. Of all cases, shots were fired in only six. The toll: two wounded tellers, one wounded bandit. In the latter case, a customer took the robber's gun from him and shot him with it. Since the time of the James Boys and the Daltons, nobody plays by the rules.

I'll go further. All bank robbers are crazy. One walked into a branch office with a shotgun, got $10,000 from the teller, and spent 15 minutes talking about the size of his hangover. The bandit felt so bad he handed the money back and walked out.

No brains, just nerve. One aimed a gun at a teller and said: "This is a stickup." The teller dropped to the floor. The bank robber looked disgusted, walked to the next window where the president of the bank was standing. The thief walked out with $500. As Molly Goldberg used to say: "This is a living?"

One crook turned out to be the champ hard-luck bank robber. He held up a teller while two FBI agents were waiting in line. They were mean enough to let him get the money in his hands before they collared him. With his luck, he'll probably devise a soft drink called Six Up.

Three women tried to rob banks. All three got nothing and were captured. In another case, the bandit warned the teller not to press the alarm button. The teller didn't. He just walked away. He was behind bullet-proof glass. The bandit ran off, muttering to himself.

The deck is stacked against the bank robber. He thinks that the gun in his pocket is equal to the courage of the teller, the proximity of the bank guard, and alarm system, the local police department, the state police, the bait money, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Swindling romantic old ladies is a simpler way of earning a living.

One intellectual bandit handed a literate note to a teller. "Please put the money in this bag and no one will get hurt," it read. "Thank you." The teller called the bank guard and gave it to him. The bank guard read it and turned a dark glance on the bandit. "Get out, you bum," he roared, "or I'll blow your brains out." The bandit fled.

No self-respect. He's probably back on relief . . .

Evidence Of Cancer Increase Among Animals

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is a fair amount of evidence that cancers are increasing among several populations of animals, according to an article in The Sciences. Indications along this line are easiest to get in zoos and less so among wild and farm animals.

Certain strains of cancer susceptible mice have been developed in the laboratory. It might be possible to develop cancer-resistant animals, especially on farms. This is not as farfetched as it sounds, considering the rise in cancer hazards such as radioactive fallout, herbicides, and industrial and urban water pollution.

We must re-emphasize that there is no scientific proof that cancer is on the increase among cattle in this country. In Denmark, certain cancers in cows are reportable. They are caused by viruses and when cancer is found, the entire herd is slaughtered; the government pays the farmer for the loss. They hope to find the extent of the problem in this way.

Body sites affected by cancer often are the same in dogs as in man. These include the breast, skin, ovaries, blood forming system, andt he nervous system. Less is known about cancer in cats except that it often is complicated by anemia and infection.

Research in another direction was conducted in a boys' camp by Dr. Otto Klineberg of Columbia university. The aim of this project was an attempt to ease global tension. Friction was incited deliberately among groups of boys until they hated one another. Then a series of crises was created to determine whether they could work together. They could and did.

Dr. Klineberg concluded that the world needs a super-project to get the United States and Russia to work together. Research in space might be one way. Another would be programs to promote child health because Russians and Americans alike love their children. But it will take more than this because both of these projects are available in that both countries are working on space programs and have been active for years in promoting child health.

BRAIN X-RAY

M. S. writes: What does a pneumoencephalogram show?

REPLY

In this procedure, the cerebrospinal fluid is replaced by air to visualize certain cavities or passageways of the brain. Air is much darker than the brain tissues when seen on X-rays. It makes an excellent contrast medium to demonstrate tumors or other abnormalities that are pushing or crowding the cavities.

REFUSES VEGETABLES

B. C. writes: What can be done for a little fellow of 3 who can't be forced, coaxed, or bribed to eat vegetables? I know he must be missing vitamins and other food elements through this abstinence.

REPLY

Let him alone, as all children go through these phases. He will obtain enough vitamins through eating other foods. If you are concerned, give him a daily vitamin-mineral capsule.

BEE THERAPY

W. W. writes: Are bee stings good for rheumatism?

REPLY

Good results have been noted in a few victims but the percentage is too small to recommend the procedure. It might interest our younger readers to know that bee venom was popular years ago but lost out when it failed to live up to expectations.

KIDNEY AND LIVER

C. I. writes: Are nephritis and hepatitis the same?

REPLY

No. The first represents inflammation of the kidney; the second, of the liver.

CHILLS AND FEVER

Mrs. R. writes: My husband has a bladder infection for which he is taking sulfa tablets. Do you think the infection or the pills could cause him to have evening spells of chills and fever?

REPLY

Bladder infection is a more likely cause of chills and fever, especially if the sulfa tablets are not doing the job.

NEW HAIR IS WHITE

Mrs. H. writes: A friend's 68-year-old husband's hair fell out in spots. The new hair growing in is pure white. Isn't this peculiar?

REPLY

Not if his hair was white before it fell out. Alopecia areata is not common at his age but when it occurs the new hair is likely to be downy or white.

PSYCHIC FATIGUE

F. L. writes: I am always tired but blood and other tests showed everything is fine. Do you think I have neurasthenia?

REPLY

Yes, provided your physician is convinced there is no other cause for your fatigue. Neurasthenia is nervous exhaustion. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on fatigue.

TOMORROW: Cosmetic and household chemicals.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A venerable bishop got tired of receiving pleas for aid from the pastor of one of his most impoverished parishes, and wrote to the pastor, "These pleas must stop. I can do nothing more for you." For a full two months, not another word was heard from the chagrined pastor. Then, one day, the bishop got another letter from him. It read, "This is not an appeal. It is a report. I have no pants."

"Sorry, madam," said a courteous ticket taker at a movie palace, "but you may not take that dog inside."

"Don't be ridiculous," snapped the lady. "What possible harm can a nudist movie do a little dog like this?"

Mr. Sneedle, wont to imbibe at least four martinis with every lunch was not too spry when he wobbled back to his office. His secretary found a way of protecting him, however. She told callers sweetly, "Can Mr. Sneedle call you back later? He's still out from lunch."

Floyd Robinson's Homer Gives Chisox 2-1 Win Over Yankees

Juan Pizarro Strikes Out 11, Bags 9th Win

Terry Suffers 8th Loss; Record Crowd Of 45,177 Attends

CHICAGO (UPI) — Floyd Robinson's seventh homer carried the Chicago White Sox and pitcher Juan Pizarro to a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees Tuesday night to move within nine percentage points of first place in the American League race.

It was the White Sox' second straight win over the league leaders, their fifth win in the last six games and only the third loss for New York in its last 13 games.

The Sox now have beaten the Yanks in all four games they have played this season.

Pizarro, who struck out 11 batters en route to his ninth win, allowed only five hits, two of them in the sixth when Bobby Richardson singled, advanced on an infield out and scored on Roger Maris' single. It was the 12th game in the last 14 in which Maris hit safely.

Ralph Terry walked lead-off batter Mike Hershberger, who was caught stealing, and then retired the next 14 batters before Ron Hansen opened the sixth with the first Chicago hit, a double. Hansen advanced on an infield out and scored on Hershberger's single.

Robinson's blow after one out in the seventh inning wrapped up the decision inflicting Terry's eighth defeat, it was his second loss to Chicago this season. He allowed only three hits and stopped rookie Pete Ward's hitting streak at 18 games, longest in the majors this season.

A crowd of 46,177, largest of the season, saw the game.

Two-run homers by Bill Duckworth and pitcher Art Raygor powered Corriganville to a 4-3 victory over Barrelville yesterday which tightened the County Softball League race.

National Jet upset Kennell's Mill, 3-2, for its first victory in 15 league games, and Stringtown downed Hyndman, 8-3.

Corriganville moved within one game of first behind the front-running Old Germans. Barrelville has an 11-4 mark and Corriganville is 10-5.

Raygor registered his seventh win in nine decisions in snapping Barrelville's win streak at four games. Bill Kenney, who has 11 victories, was saddled with his fourth loss.

Raygor homered in the third following Lease's hit, and Duckworth blasted his round-tripper in the fifth to score his brother Wayne ahead of him.

Barrelville, held hitless for five innings, exploded for three runs in the sixth. Ronnie Neubeiser's two-run triple was the big blow of the inning. Fay Often plated the other tally with a sacrifice fly.

The Old Gees threatened again in the seventh, putting men on first and second with one out. However, a double play from second baseman "Boots" Raygor to Dick Niner at first ended the game.

Bobby Sites rapped out four hits as National Jet halted a Kennell's Mill winning skein that had reached six games. Glenn Jewell got the mound decision over Kennell.

Stringtown banged two Hyndman pitchers for 13 base hits. Tom Hare, Paul Stair and Rich Lybarger accounted for nine of the safeties. Stan Robertson homered for Hyndman with the sacks empty in the fourth.

Gonzales Dropped To 4th In Forest Hills Seeding

ILTPA Overrules Tourney Committee, Also Alters Draw

NEW YORK (AP)—The feud between Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, the one-time pro tennis king who embarks on a comeback, and the International Lawn Tennis Players Association boiled over Tuesday, just two days before the U.S. Pro Tennis Championships start at Forest Hills.

The ILTPA, overruling the seeding committee of the tournament, dropped Gonzales from second to fourth. The draw also was altered, apparently aimed at hurting Gonzales' chances.

Gonzales originally had been seeded behind the current pro champion, Ken Rosewall of Australia. But the ILTPA balked at that and forced the tournament sponsors, Wildon Productions, to insert Lew Hoad of Australia at No. 2 and Rod Laver of Australia at No. 3.

"We felt," said Tony Trabert, ILTPA president, "that on recent competition, both Hoad and Laver deserved to be seeded ahead of Gonzales."

The new draw for the eight-man elimination event wiped out a "grudge" opening-round match between Gonzales and Trabert. Gonzales, along with Pancho Segura of Los Angeles, currently is under suspension by the ILTPA for trying to organize their own television tennis series.

Gonzales now opens against Alex Olmedo of Los Angeles, the 1958 U.S. Davis Cup hero from Peru, on Thursday after Hoad faces Earl Buchholz Jr. of St. Louis.

If Gonzales survives, he then will play the winner of Friday's match between Rosewall and Trabert in Saturday's semifinals. The other semifinal will pit the Hoad-Buchholz winner against either Laver or Segura. The final is scheduled Sunday.

Gonzales, the swarthy slugger who is now 35, didn't seem too annoyed by the switch.

He commented, "I still have to win three matches to win the tournament, so it doesn't make any difference. In a way, I think I'd prefer to play Rosewall rather than Laver."

Following his recent suspension, Gonzales sued the ILTPA for $150,000, but the court ruled against him Monday in Los Angeles.

Second place Barrelville edged Corriganville, 2-1, on a one-hitter by John Helmick who fired the third strike past 16 batsmen in notching his third win in four decisions.

Corriganville scored the first run on Miller's walk, two wild pitches and Ricky Kauffman's single but Barrelville sewed it up in the fourth when Kenney Blank tripled, scored on Roger Kennell's sacrifice fly, John Helmick also slammed a three-bagger and came home on a wild throw to the plate.

Helmick had two of Barrelville's three hits, yielded by Harold Miller, who fanned seven.

In the "Battle of LaVale," the Orioles defeated the Maroons at Shehan Field by the score of 7-3.

Jerry Boland, the winner, and Bobby Williams limited the Maroons to four hits and struck out ten batters. Boland posted his third win against a single loss.

Rich Underwood went the distance for the Maroons and gave up 13 blows. Terry Ellsworth had three singles, Mike O'Donnell blasted a triple and single, Kenny Smith obtained a two-bagger and single and Cochenour had a pair of base knocks for the winners. Boston Takes Pair, Dick Radatz Stars

BOSTON (UPI) — Relief robot Dick Radatz preserved victories for both Bill Monbouquette and Earl Wilson to give the Boston Red Sox 4-1 and 3-2 twi-night doubleheader wins over the Cleveland Indians.

Monbouquette and Radatz combined for a six-hitter in the opener and lost a shutout bid on a ninth inning homer by Cleveland's Max Alvis. Wilson, Arnold Earley and Radatz stopped the Tribe on six hits in the night game.

Radatz struck out Cleveland pinch-hitter Joe Adcock in each of the games to get out of tight spots. He gave up the Alvis homer in the opener and one of the singles, but struck out four men. In the second game he also gave up a hit in the ninth inning but held on to strike out the last two batters.

It was the White Sox' second straight win over the league leaders, their fifth win in the last six games and only the third loss for New York in its last 13 games.

The Sox now have beaten the Yanks in all four games they have played this season.

Pizarro, who struck out 11 batters en route to his ninth win, allowed only five hits, two of them in the sixth when Bobby Richardson singled, advanced on an infield out and scored on Roger Maris' single. It was the 12th game in the last 14 in which Maris hit safely.

Ralph Terry walked lead-off batter Mike Hershberger, who was caught stealing, and then retired the next 14 batters before Ron Hansen opened the sixth with the first Chicago hit, a double. Hansen advanced on an infield out and scored on Hershberger's single.

Robinson's blow after one out in the seventh inning wrapped up the decision inflicting Terry's eighth defeat, it was his second loss to Chicago this season. He allowed only three hits and stopped rookie Pete Ward's hitting streak at 18 games, longest in the majors this season.

National Jet upset Kennell's Mill, 3-2, for its first victory in 15 league games, and Stringtown downed Hyndman, 8-3.

Corriganville moved within one game of first behind the front-running Old Germans. Barrelville has an 11-4 mark and Corriganville is 10-5.

Raygor homered in the third following Lease's hit, and Duckworth blasted his round-tripper in the fifth to score his brother Wayne ahead of him.

Barrelville, held hitless for five innings, exploded for three runs in the sixth. Ronnie Neubeiser's two-run triple was the big blow of the inning. Fay Often plated the other tally with a sacrifice fly.

The Old Gees threatened again in the seventh, putting men on first and second with one out. However, a double play from second baseman "Boots" Raygor to Dick Niner at first ended the game.

Gonzales Dropped To 4th In Forest Hills Seeding

ILTPA Overrules Tourney Committee, Also Alters Draw

NEW YORK (AP)—The feud between Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, the one-time pro tennis king who embarks on a comeback, and the International Lawn Tennis Players Association boiled over Tuesday, just two days before the U.S. Pro Tennis Championships start at Forest Hills.

The ILTPA, overruling the seeding committee of the tournament, dropped Gonzales from second to fourth. The draw also was altered, apparently aimed at hurting Gonzales' chances.

Gonzales originally had been seeded behind the current pro champion, Ken Rosewall of Australia. But the ILTPA balked at that and forced the tournament sponsors, Wildon Productions, to insert Lew Hoad of Australia at No. 2 and Rod Laver of Australia at No. 3.

"We felt," said Tony Trabert, ILTPA president, "that on recent competition, both Hoad and Laver deserved to be seeded ahead of Gonzales."

The new draw for the eight-man elimination event wiped out a "grudge" opening-round match between Gonzales and Trabert. Gonzales, along with Pancho Segura of Los Angeles, currently is under suspension by the ILTPA for trying to organize their own television tennis series.

Gonzales now opens against Alex Olmedo of Los Angeles, the 1958 U.S. Davis Cup hero from Peru, on Thursday after Hoad faces Earl Buchholz Jr. of St. Louis.

If Gonzales survives, he then will play the winner of Friday's match between Rosewall and Trabert in Saturday's semifinals. The other semifinal will pit the Hoad-Buchholz winner against either Laver or Segura. The final is scheduled Sunday.

Gonzales, the swarthy slugger who is now 35, didn't seem too annoyed by the switch.

He commented, "I still have to win three matches to win the tournament, so it doesn't make any difference. In a way, I think I'd prefer to play Rosewall rather than Laver."

Following his recent suspension, Gonzales sued the ILTPA for $150,000, but the court ruled against him Monday in Los Angeles.

Braves Hand Colts Sixth Shutout, 4-0

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Hapless Houston was in trouble right from the first pitch, which outfielder Lee Maye socked for a home run, and the Milwaukee Braves went on to hand the Colts their sixth shutout in the last seven games Tuesday night 4-0.

Righthander Tony Cloninger, in handing the last place Colts their 10th consecutive defeat, picked up his third win of the season, giving up just four hits while striking out five. The Colts have scored just one run in their last 66 innings and have been scoreless the past 25 innings.

Starter Ken Johnson, who gave up all the runs in seven innings work, was charged with his 10th loss of the year.

After Maye trotted around the bases with his fifth homer of the season, the Braves added another run in the first on two walks and a single. Consecutive doubles by Maye and Frank Bolling in the seventh, produced another run and Eddie Mathews drove in Milwaukee's last tally with a single that sent Bolling home.

Chuck McKinley Scores In Wimbledon Net Meet

Dell And Buchholz Lose; 11 American Players Survive

By ROBERT MUSEL
UPI Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI) — Chunky Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., hit a hot streak of tennis on a cold, windswept court Tuesday and opened his bid to become the first American in eight years to win the men's singles title at Wimbledon by crushing South Frica's Cliff Drysdale, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6.

The bouncy little slugger from Trinity (Tex.) University, America's No. 1 player, led five other Americans into the second round to make it a total of 11 men survivors in a field of 20 Yanks that started Monday.

Three others were beaten Tuesday including Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., who bowed to lanky Frank Foehling of Coral Gables, Fla., 1-6, 8-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, in a tremendous duel of ranking Americans. Froehling, also a student at Trinity University, is ranked second in the U.S. Dell seventh.

Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., and Dorothy Head Knode, formerly of Forest Hills, N.Y., but now living in Tokyo, led an advance of four American girls but five others were beaten during a program halted twice by heavy rains. Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., and three other American girls did not play.

Joined McKinley

Joining McKinley and Froehling in the second round were Arthur Ashe, Jr., of Los Angeles, Charley Pasarell of Puerto Rico, Bob Siska of San Francisco and Tom Edlefsen of Los Angeles.

Pasarell routed Franz Hainka of Austria, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5; Siska ousted Ion Tiriac of Romania, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5; Edlefsen downed Allan Kendall of Australia, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4, and Ashe stromed from behind to defeat Carlos Fernandez of Brazil, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1.

Miss Caldwell, who was 20 Monday, gave herself a belated birthday present with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Christine Mercelis of Belgium for a berth in the third round. Mrs. Head won a first-rounder from Ann McAlpine of Britain, 6-2, 6-1.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., won a second-rounder from Sonja Pachta of Austria, 6-4, 6-4, and Donna Floyd Fales of Arlington, Va., defeated Ann Barclay of Canada in the first round, 6-3, 6-2.

Judy Alvarez Loses

Robyn Lesh of Australia ousted Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla., 8-6, 6-4, and Suzy Kormoczy of Hungary defeated Pat Stewart Edrich of New York and London, 6-1, 6-1.

Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis and Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y., were bumped out of men's singles. American girls who lost were Janie Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., 17-year-old daughter of former pro footballer Frankie Albert; Constance Jaster of La Brea, Calif., and Mary Habicht, formerly of Sunapee, N.H., now living in Greece.

Buchholz, caught by rain Monday while leading by two sets to one and 2-0 in the fourth, lost his touch against Italy's veteran Nicola Pietrangeli when play was resumed Tuesday. The Italian sharpshooter reeled off five games in a row and went on to an easy conquest at 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Davidson put out Scott in three bitterly contested sets, 9-7, 6-4, 9-7. Scott ranks eighth in the U.S.

Braves Hand Colts Sixth Shutout, 4-0

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Hapless Houston was in trouble right from the first pitch, which outfielder Lee Maye socked for a home run, and the Milwaukee Braves went on to hand the Colts their sixth shutout in the last seven games Tuesday night 4-0.

Righthander Tony Cloninger, in handing the last place Colts their 10th consecutive defeat, picked up his third win of the season, giving up just four hits while striking out five. The Colts have scored just one run in their last 66 innings and have been scoreless the past 25 innings.

Starter Ken Johnson, who gave up all the runs in seven innings work, was charged with his 10th loss of the year.

After Maye trotted around the bases with his fifth homer of the season, the Braves added another run in the first on two walks and a single. Consecutive doubles by Maye and Frank Bolling in the seventh, produced another run and Eddie Mathews drove in Milwaukee's last tally with a single that sent Bolling home.

Chuck McKinley Scores In Wimbledon Net Meet

Dell And Buchholz Lose; 11 American Players Survive

By ROBERT MUSEL
UPI Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI) — Chunky Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., hit a hot streak of tennis on a cold, windswept court Tuesday and opened his bid to become the first American in eight years to win the men's singles title at Wimbledon by crushing South Frica's Cliff Drysdale, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6.

The bouncy little slugger from Trinity (Tex.) University, America's No. 1 player, led five other Americans into the second round to make it a total of 11 men survivors in a field of 20 Yanks that started Monday.

Three others were beaten Tuesday including Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., who bowed to lanky Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., 1-6, 8-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, in a tremendous duel of ranking Americans. Froehling, also a student at Trinity University, is ranked second in the U.S. Dell seventh.

Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., and Dorothy Head Knode, formerly of Forest Hills, N.Y., but now living in Tokyo, led an advance of four American girls but five others were beaten during a program halted twice by heavy rains. Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., and three other American girls did not play.

Joined McKinley

Joining McKinley and Froehling in the second round were Arthur Ashe, Jr., of Los Angeles, Charley Pasarell of Puerto Rico, Bob Siska of San Francisco and Tom Edlefsen of Los Angeles.

Pasarell routed Franz Hainka of Austria, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5; Siska ousted Ion Tiriac of Romania, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5; Edlefsen downed Allan Kendall of Australia, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4, and Ashe stromed from behind to defeat Carlos Fernandez of Brazil, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1.

Miss Caldwell, who was 20 Monday, gave herself a belated birthday present with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Christine Mercelis of Belgium for a berth in the third round. Mrs. Head won a first-rounder from Ann McAlpine of Britain, 6-2, 6-1.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., won a second-rounder from Sonja Pachta of Austria, 6-4, 6-4, and Donna Floyd Fales of Arlington, Va., defeated Ann Barclay of Canada in the first round, 6-3, 6-2.

Judy Alvarez Loses

Robyn Lesh of Australia ousted Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla., 8-6, 6-4, and Suzy Kormoczy of Hungary defeated Pat Stewart Edrich of New York and London, 6-1, 6-1.

Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis and Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y., were bumped out of men's singles. American girls who lost were Janie Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., 17-year-old daughter of former pro footballer Frankie Albert; Constance Jaster of La Brea, Calif., and Mary Habicht, formerly of Sunapee, N.H., now living in Greece.

Buchholz, caught by rain Monday while leading by two sets to one and 2-0 in the fourth, lost his touch against Italy's veteran Nicola Pietrangeli when play was resumed Tuesday. The Italian sharpshooter reeled off five games in a row and went on to an easy conquest at 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Davidson put out Scott in three bitterly contested sets, 9-7, 6-4, 9-7. Scott ranks eighth in the U.S.

Salvation Army Scores 6th Stove Victory In Row

Salvation Army continued its winning ways in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday, downing B'nai B'rith, 4-1, in the opening game of a league doubleheader at Penn Avenue Field.

In the other half of the twinbill, Bedford Road Optimists scored their first win of the season in seven starts by tripping the Elks, 7-5.

B'nai B'rith Tommy Clay held Salvation Army in check until the bottom of the sixth inning when manager Art Delozier's unbeaten tossers exploded for all four of their runs. Salvation Army now has six wins without a loss.

Salvation Army combined three hits with a pair of walks in the four-run frame. Jimmy Decker drove home two of the tallies with a single, and stole home with another run.

Lefthander Teddy Malloy went all the way for the victory, spacing six hits and fanning seven batters. Clay struck out ten, and had the losers' only extra-base knock, a triple.

Sugar Ray Gives Serious Thought To Retirement

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Sugar Ray Robinson, wounded in his pride by Joey Giardello and in his pocketbook by the government's tax men, said Tuesday he is "very seriously" considering retiring from boxing.

The 43-year-old former welterweight and middleweight champion, who retired once before and then made a comeback for what many said were financial reasons, said whether he quits again depends on certain "business ventures" that will be "consummated before the end of this week."

Left-hooking Giardello put Robinson on the canvas once and beat him on an unanimous 10-round decision Monday night in one of the worst beatings in Sugar Ray's 170-bout career.

Drake Grid Star's Hand Is Amputated

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — A tire plant accident may have put an end to the football career of Lou Proctor, Drake letterman the last three years and a potential starter on the 1963 team.

Proctor's right hand was caught in rollers of the rubber mill at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. plant here Monday. Surgeons were forced to amputate the hand.

Proctor, 21-year-old, 200-pound guard from Detroit, Mich., has one year of eligibility left at Drake. He won his first varsity letter as a freshman at Drake after receiving all-city football honors as a Detroit prep.

Top price for the All-Star Football game in Chicago August 2 is $2.

Giants Reactivate Hurler Billy Hoeft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants reactivated left-handed pitcher Billy Hoeft Tuesday and to make room for him sent infielder Cap Peterson to their Pacific Coast League club at Tacoma.

Hoeft, acquired from Baltimore in a winter trade, suffered a left shoulder injury in a fall at the Giants' early spring training camp in Casa Grande, Ariz.

In a recent race at River Downs, Cincinnati, a horse wheeled after the start, threw his jockey and started running wildly the wrong way. He met the field coming around, ran into one of the horses and was killed. Jockey on the other horse was seriously injured.

Sugar Ray Gives Serious Thought To Retirement

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Sugar Ray Robinson, wounded in his pride by Joey Giardello and in his pocketbook by the government's tax men, said Tuesday he is "very seriously" considering retiring from boxing.

The 43-year-old former welterweight and middleweight champion, who retired once before and then made a comeback for what many said were financial reasons, said whether he quits again depends on certain "business ventures" that will be "consummated before the end of this week."

Left-hooking Giardello put Robinson or the canvas once and beat him on an unanimous 10-round decision Monday night in one of the worst beatings in Sugar Ray's 170-bout career.

Drake Grid Star's Hand Is Amputated

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — A tire plant accident may have put an end to the football career of Lou Proctor, Drake letterman the last three years and a potential starter on the 1963 team.

Proctor's right hand was caught in rollers of the rubber mill at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. plant here Monday. Surgeons were forced to amputate the hand.

Proctor, 21-year-old, 200-pound guard from Detroit, Mich., has one year of eligibility left at Drake. He won his first varsity letter as a freshman at Drake after receiving all-city football honors as a Detroit prep.

Top price for the All-Star Football game in Chicago August 2 is $2.

Giants Reactivate Hurler Billy Hoeft

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants reactivated left-handed pitcher Billy Hoeft Tuesday and to make room for him sent infielder Cap Peterson to their Pacific Coast League club at Tacoma.

Hoeft, acquired from Baltimore in a winter trade, suffered a left shoulder injury in a fall at the Giants' early spring training camp in Casa Grande, Ariz.

In a recent race at River Downs, Cincinnati, a horse wheeled after the start, threw his jockey and started running wildly the wrong way. He met the field coming around, ran into one of the horses and was killed. Jockey on the other horse was seriously injured.

Realty Ramblings . . .

If the thing that is holding you up from buying that home is your fear that you will not be able to negotiate a mortgage large enough to go with the funds you have available for the front money, let me implore you to look a little deeper into the present money market situation. Or better yet, let us look into it for you.

T. T. SUMMERS

It may have been quite some time since you made your last inquiry, and mortgage availabilities can change their limits quite suddenly with the variations in the supply and demand of money for mortgage investments.

E. M. Mortlock in New York, vice president of the U.S. Savings and Loan League, and President of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of New York City, recently blamed the present day high competition between financial institutions for home mortgages on the fact that the lending capacity of these institutions is growing more rapidly than the demand for mortgage credit.

While it is true that there has been, for the past few years, a steady increase in the output of mortgage money, there has been an even more pronounced increase in the savings deposited with these institutions.

So give that home buying situation of yours a fresh look, and perhaps you will find that those dreams you had of home-ownership may not be as badly shattered as you thought.

A call at our office will bring you intelligent information about this situation along with suggestions and help in making the kind of arrangements you need and can handle.

Realty Ramblings . . .

If the thing that is holding you up from buying that home is your fear that you will not be able to negotiate a mortgage large enough to go with the funds you have available for the front money, let me implore you to look a little deeper into the present money market situation. Or better yet, let us look into it for you.

T. T. SUMMERS

It may have been quite some time since you made your last inquiry, and mortgage availabilities can change their limits quite suddenly with the variations in the supply and demand of money for mortgage investments.

E. M. Mortlock in New York, vice president of the U.S. Savings and Loan League, and President of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of New York City, recently blamed the present day high competition between financial institutions for home mortgages on the fact that the lending capacity of these institutions is growing more rapidly than the demand for mortgage credit.

While it is true that there has been, for the past few years, a steady increase in the output of mortgage money, there has been an even more pronounced increase in the savings deposited with these institutions.

So give that home buying situation of yours a fresh look, and perhaps you will find that those dreams you had of home-ownership may not be as badly shattered as you thought.

A call at our office will bring you intelligent information about this situation along with suggestions and help in making the kind of arrangements you need and can handle.

22 Freight Cars Derail East Of Patterson Creek

Fresh Air Kids Are Delayed

Twenty empty cars and two loaded cars of B&O Freight Train 397, westbound from Philadelphia to Cumberland, derailed yesterday afternoon about two miles east of Patterson Creek blocking main lines of the railroad. No one was reported injured.

The cause of the derailment about 4:30 p.m. was not known, according to a railroad spokesman, who said the cause will possibly be learned when the cars are untangled.

The first track was expected to be clear late last night. Crews from Cumberland and Brunswick were sent to the wreckage scene at Dan's Run.

Rail Traffic Detoured

Meanwhile other rail traffic was being re-routed over Western Maryland Railway lines from Cherry Run to Cumberland.

Three westbound trains, including Train No. 9, were delayed. Eighteen Fresh Air Kids from New York City's Chinatown on Train 9 had expected to arrive in the Queen City at 5:20 p.m., but the accident delayed the train for about five hours. The youngsters were en route to Cumberland for a two-week vacation with families in Allegany County.

The passenger train was stopped at Orleans Road, returned to Cherry Run on the B&O lines and was to be switched onto the WM lines for the final few miles into Cumberland.

Other Trains Delayed

Passenger Train 1, due here at 7:25 p.m. (EDT), was expected to arrive about 9:15 p.m., and Train 5, the Capitol Limited, which usually arrives here at 8:05 p.m., was expected to arrive about 9:35 p.m.

Crews on Trains 1 and 5 were notified of the accident before the trains reached Cherry Run and the switchover.

The freight train originated in Philadelphia and had picked up other cars at rail terminals along the way. There were 134 empties including box cars, gondolas and covered gondolas.

One car was loaded with sugar and the other was carrying oil, according to the spokesman, who said the 79th to 100th cars left the rails.

The two-week day camp sponsored by Shawnee Girl Scout Council is being conducted on the "Indian" theme. Mrs. Robert Zimmer is camp director.

'Right On Red' Signs Placed At Intersection

"Turn Right on Red with Care" signs were placed at the intersection of Park and Harrison streets yesterday, according to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

One of the signs, he said, will allow vehicles coming down Harrison Street from Maryland Avenue to make a right turn.

A similar sign was placed on the opposite side of the street for the benefit of drivers who wish to make a right turn on Park Street.

Commissioner Keegan said the signs will expedite the flow of traffic at the intersection at all times except during the peak traffic periods.

Started yesterday was the painting of a 20-minute parking zone on South Mechanic Street opposite the Post Office. Painting of the area will be completed today.

Mr. Keegan said the 20-minute parking zone will relieve congestion in the Post Office area and make it easier for people to transact necessary business there.

Lines marking a bus stop in the first block of South Mechanic Street were repainted yesterday.

Board To Act On VEPCO Relocation

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The State Corporation Commission is expected to act Wednesday on a request by the Virginia Electric and Power Co. to build a 380-mile power line through northern Virginia.

Commissioner H. Lester Hooker said Tuesday the early decision was likely because of an alternate route offered by the firm which would bypass much of northern Virginia's hunt country.

VEPCO said it would consider building the alternate route if it received quick approval because delays caused by opposition of northern Virginia land owners to the original route were costly.

The new proposed route would eliminate an east - west section through much of Loudoun, Fauquier and Warren County and would, instead, run along existing utility corridors in Maryland and West Virginia.

VEPCO plans to capitalize on the availability of coal in West Virginia by erecting a large power station at Mount Storm, W. Va., and transmitting electric power by cable to Richmond and northern Virginia.

Northern Virginia land owners claimed the line would mar the area's scenic beauty, lower land values and hurt tourist trade.

Firemen Called To Court House

The 85-foot aerial ladder truck and pumper from Central fire station and the pumper from West Side station went to the Allegany County Court House yesterday about 5:40 p. m. The call turned out to be a smoke scare.

B&O Abandons Plan To Rebuild Tunnel In W.Va.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has abandoned plans to rebuild the West Virginia tunnel which caved in June 6, killing two men.

A railroad official said Tuesday a new tunnel will be about 80 feet north of the cave-in site, about 20 miles east of Parkersburg, W.Va.

"This was simply an engineering decision," the spokesman said, adding engineers concluded after a survey that reconstruction of the old tunnel would be too hazardous.

Both victims of the cave-in were engaged in repairing the tunnel at the time of the June 6 collapse. One died of injuries after being removed to a hospital. The body of the second has not been recovered.

SRC Opens Bids On Area Bridge And Road Job

Bids for an Allegany County bridge and a Garrett County highway project were opened in Baltimore yesterday by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Miller and Greenland, of Huntingdon, Pa., was the apparent low bidder, at $126,795, for the construction of a bridge over Town Creek on Town Creek Road in Allegany County.

The George Construction Company, Cumberland, bid $128,688 for the project, and the Cumberland Contracting Company, Cumberland, $131,452.

The contract includes the construction of a three-span prestressed concrete I beam bridge and about 825 feet of approaches.

S. J. Groves, Camp Hill, Pa., was the apparent low bidder, at $1,635,161, for a US 219 highway project in Garrett County.

The only other bidder was the E. D. Plummer Company, of Hagerstown, which submitted a bid of $1,721,175.

The contract calls for grading, draining and surfacing with flexible pavement about 2.86 miles of U. S. 219 from Accident to Northern High School.

Two LaVale boys, Steve and Jeff Dorsey, 924 Weires Avenue, reported seeing a satellite last night traveling northwest to southeast.

Subdivision Regulations Are Backed

Planning Unit To Study Suggestions

Several suggestions for changes in proposed Subdivision Regulations for the City of Cumberland were made at a hearing held last night in City Hall by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

Most of the suggestions called for minor changes and no opposition was expressed to the plan as a whole, which received general support.

The hearing was attended by nine persons, who were outnumbered by city officials and members of the commission.

James A. Avirett, vice chairman, said the commission will consider the proposals, along with 12 comments received by the commission during the three months it has been studying the plan.

He said the public will have another chance to make suggestions, as the Mayor and Council will hold a public hearing before it adopts the final plan.

Sets Standards

The Subdivision Regulations, said resident planner John R. Joyner, sets up procedure, design standards and minimum improvements which should be provided as land is developed.

In reply to a query from T. L. Richards, 843 Mt. Royal Avenue, on whether the regulations will have the authority of law, City Solicitor Hugh A. McMullen said the rules will become a city ordinance and will become law, adding the purpose is to establish firm rules for developers.

Mr. Richards said he thought there should be the right of appeal from decisions of the planning commission, and Mr. Avirett agreed it was a "good suggestion."

Mr. McMullen said there would be no objection to providing for an appeal to the Circuit Court but that it would have to be in an area where the commission has some discretion.

Unit Is Divided

Thomas W. Burton, 111 Sunset Drive, asked if the city were going to include areas outside the city in its plan.

There has been no final decision, Mr. Avirett said, and the commission is divided. He said Maryland law apparently gives the city the right to control subdivisions one mile out of the city limits.

Mr. Burton said county rules should apply outside the city and that part of LaVale would be affected if the control were extended.

One problem, he said, is that the city plan calls for the installation of storm water sewers and that the county has no provisions for maintenance.

Speaking as chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee, Harry Kauffman said he hopes the city will adopt fair and adequate subdivision regulations.

Urges Adoption

C. Lee Renaud, county planner, strongly urged the adoption of subdivision regulations for the city.

He said he and John R. Joyner, the city's planner, have met to coordinate regulations proposed for the city and the county and that the coordination has, for all practical purposes, been accomplished as to format, procedures and design standards, adding:

"Subdivision regulations are essential to safeguard the interests of those who will be living in the subdivision after it is developed which eventually will be our children and our children's children. Subdivision approval now will dictate the kind of community life the subdivision layout will make possible.

"By requiring that reasonable improvements be installed or guaranteed by performance bond, the taxpayer benefits by the reduced cost of maintenance when adequate standards are required. The subdivider benefits by reducing the opportunity for the sharp operator of a 'hit and run' subdivision to take unfair advantage of a recognized local business enterprise.

"I would like to urge the adoption of subdivision regulations for

On or before July 31, businesses dealing in or maintaining for use coin-operated amusement devices, bowling alleys and billiard or pool tables must register and pay for their tax stamps. All current registrations and occupational tax stamps in both of these categories expire on June 30.

Judge Hears Dispute On Barton Road

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey yesterday afternoon heard additional testimony in Allegany County Circuit Court in a dispute involving the right to use a road in the Town of Barton leading from State Route 36 back to the former Pehill coal mine.

Frank Brennan Sr., Armenta Brennan, his wife, and Francis Brenner had filed a petition for an injunction last October 18 against Joseph A. McKenzie and Mary M. McKenzie, his wife.

The Brennans charged in the petition that the McKenzies had installed barriers in the road which prevented them from using the road.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the Brennans, called William Shuhart of Barton as the witness yesterday afternoon. Mr. Shuhart who has been employed by the Town of Barton for about 15 years, said that town workmen clean the ditches along the road in question every year and did shale work on the road as late as 1961 or 1962.

Under cross-examination by Peter J. Carpenti, attorney for the McKenzies, Mr. Shuhart acknowledged that the town did not plow snow off the road in the wintertime but stressed that the town never did plow snow off side streets and roads.

When Mr. McKenzie was called to testify by Mr. Carpenti, he contended that he and a Mr. Magruder installed a culvert under the road in 1949. In answer to a question from Judge Cobey, Mr. McKenzie said that the posts which he placed in the road were on his own property.

After leaving the Court House, Judge Cobey planned to visit the site to observe the disputed condition. Most of the evidence in the case was heard by Judge Cobey on June 6.

Bowling Green Sewer Costs Are Explained

Project To Serve 618 Area Houses

All seven members of the recently expanded Allegany County Sanitary Commission heard a detailed explanation of the financing costs of the proposed Bowling Green sanitary system.

Leonard M. Glass of the Baltimore consulting engineering firm of Matz, Childs and Associates submitted figures which indicated that on the basis of the lowest bid submitted to the commission on June 17 the total cost of the project to serve 618 homes in Bowling Green, Roberts Place and Potomac Park would be about $1,093,000.

The project has been divided into two basic contracts. Contract No. 1, primarily for the construction of collecting sewers, will cost about $564,500 including engineering fees and contingencies. Contract No. 2, for the interceptor sewers and primary sewage treatment plant, would cost about $503,600.

Some Money Assured

Mr. Glass added to these two totals $18,885.98 for interest charges while the project is under construction and $6,244 for land acquisitation.

The sanitary commission already has assurance that at least $94,200 each can be obtained to help finance the cost from federal and state sources, a total of $188,400.

However, the regional office of the Public Health Service in Charlottesville, Va., most recently has indicated to Mr. Glass that Allegany County might be able to obtain as much as $251,800 or half of the Contract No. 2 cost from Accelerated Public Works funds. That, plus the $94,200 assured from the state, would bring the non-local aid for the Bowling Green project to $346,000.

On the other hand, state sources have indicated that they may provide an additional $72,000 if no more than the $94,200 in federal funds can be obtained.

On the basis of these indications, local sources would have to

The Hout Construction Company yesterday completed construction work on the project and has only clean-up tasks to complete on the $16,220 contract.

Costs, except for right of way acquisition, is shared equally by the government and the city under the pump priming program.

22 Freight Cars Derail East Of Patterson Creek

Fresh Air Kids Are Delayed

Twenty empty cars and two loaded cars of B&O Freight Train 397, westbound from Philadelphia to Cumberland, derailed yesterday afternoon about two miles east of Patterson Creek blocking main lines of the railroad. No one was reported injured.

The cause of the derailment about 4:30 p.m. was not known, according to a railroad spokesman, who said the cause will possibly be learned when the cars are untangled.

The first track was expected to be clear late last night. Crews from Cumberland and Brunswick were sent to the wreckage scene at Dan's Run.

Rail Traffic Detoured

Meanwhile other rail traffic was being re-routed over Western Maryland Railway lines from Cherry Run to Cumberland.

Three westbound trains, including Train No. 9, were delayed. Eighteen Fresh Air Kids from New York City's Chinatown on Train 9 had expected to arrive in the Queen City at 5:20 p.m., but the accident delayed the train for about five hours. The youngsters were en route to Cumberland for a two-week vacation with families in Allegany County.

The passenger train was stopped at Orleans Road, returned to Cherry Run on the B&O lines and was to be switched onto the WM lines for the final few miles into Cumberland.

Other Trains Delayed

Passenger Train 1, due here at 7:25 p.m. (EDT), was expected to arrive about 9:15 p.m., and Train 5, the Capitol Limited, which usually arrives here at 8:05 p.m., was expected to arrive about 9:35 p.m.

Crews on Trains 1 and 5 were notified of the accident before the trains reached Cherry Run and the switchover.

The freight train originated in Philadelphia and had picked up other cars at rail terminals along the way. There were 134 empties including box cars, gondolas and covered gondolas.

One car was loaded with sugar and the other was carrying oil, according to the spokesman, who said the 79th to 100th cars left the rails.

Subdivision Regulations Are Backed

Planning Unit To Study Suggestions

Several suggestions for changes in proposed Subdivision Regulations for the City of Cumberland were made at a hearing held last night in City Hall by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

Most of the suggestions called for minor changes and no opposition was expressed to the plan as a whole, which received general support.

The hearing was attended by nine persons, who were outnumbered by city officials and members of the commission.

James A. Avirett, vice chairman, said the commission will consider the proposals, along with 12 comments received by the commission during the three months it has been studying the plan.

He said the public will have another chance to make suggestions, as the Mayor and Council will hold a public hearing before it adopts the final plan.

Sets Standards

The Subdivision Regulations, said resident planner John R. Joyner, sets up procedure, design standards and minimum improvements which should be provided as land is developed.

In reply to a query from T. L. Richards, 843 Mt. Royal Avenue, on whether the regulations will have the authority of law, City Solicitor Hugh A. McMullen said the rules will become a city ordinance and will become law, adding the purpose is to establish firm rules for developers.

Mr. Richards said he thought there should be the right of appeal from decisions of the planning commission, and Mr. Avirett agreed it was a "good suggestion."

'Right On Red' Signs Placed At Intersection

"Turn Right on Red with Care" signs were placed at the intersection of Park and Harrison streets yesterday, according to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

One of the signs, he said, will allow vehicles coming down Harrison Street from Maryland Avenue to make a right turn.

A similar sign was placed on the opposite side of the street for the benefit of drivers who wish to make a right turn on Park Street.

Commissioner Keegan said the signs will expedite the flow of traffic at the intersection at all times except during the peak traffic periods.

Started yesterday was the painting of a 20-minute parking zone on South Mechanic Street opposite the Post Office. Painting of the area will be completed today.

Mr. Keegan said the 20-minute parking zone will relieve congestion in the Post Office area and make it easier for people to transact necessary business there.

Lines marking a bus stop in the first block of South Mechanic Street were repainted yesterday.

B&O Abandons Plan To Rebuild Tunnel In W.Va.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has abandoned plans to rebuild the West Virginia tunnel which caved in June 6, killing two men.

A railroad official said Tuesday a new tunnel will be about 80 feet north of the cave-in site, about 20 miles east of Parkersburg, W.Va.

"This was simply an engineering decision," the spokesman said, adding engineers concluded after a survey that reconstruction of the old tunnel would be too hazardous.

Both victims of the cave-in were engaged in repairing the tunnel at the time of the June 6 collapse. One died of injuries after being removed to a hospital. The body of the second has not been recovered.

Board To Act On VEPCO Relocation

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The State Corporation Commission is expected to act Wednesday on a request by the Virginia Electric and Power Co. to build a 380-mile power line through northern Virginia.

Commissioner H. Lester Hooker said Tuesday the early decision was likely because of an alternate route offered by the firm which would bypass much of northern Virginia's hunt country.

VEPCO said it would consider building the alternate route if it received quick approval because delays caused by opposition of northern Virginia land owners to the original route were costly.

The new proposed route would eliminate an east - west section through much of Loudoun, Fauquier and Warren County and would, instead, run along existing utility corridors in Maryland and West Virginia.

VEPCO plans to capitalize on the availability of coal in West Virginia by erecting a large power station at Mount Storm, W. Va., and transmitting electric power by cable to Richmond and northern Virginia.

Northern Virginia land owners claimed the line would mar the area's scenic beauty, lower land values and hurt tourist trade.
